Horse Throws Prince George In Hunt Chase

Youngest Son Of King

NOW EMULATING PRINCE OF WALES

Wales Is Along On Hunt And Rushes To Aid Of His Brother

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 27.—Riding a spirited thoroughbred loaned him by an American millionaire, Prince George, youngest son of King George and Queen Mary, sustained a dislocated shoulder today when his mount slipped and fell under him at Meltown Mowbray.

The prince was riding one of two hunters loaned by P. Ambrose Clarke, Long Island millionaire. He was pursuing a fox behind the Belvoir hounds from Rose Thorns, Meltown Mowbray, to Kaye Wood, when the horse slipped, throwing the prince heavily.

Prince George was taken to a local hospital, where an anesthetic was administered and the dislocated shoulder reset.

The Prince of Wales, who resumed riding this week after a lapse of more than a year, was also hunting with Belvoir hounds at the time of the accident.

Before Prince George fell, he and his elder brother, also up on a borrowed horse, rode wildly and recklessly, taking numerous chances by jumping wide brooks and hedges instead of taking the course over bridges and through pathways followed by the remainder of the hunt.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New's been informed that a host of out of town folks are driving here these nights to see the illuminated Christmas tree displays.
One family in particular came last night for that reason, and while stopping explained the lighted festi-oons on several local streets would be hard to match elsewhere.

Boy Scout officials here are working out tentative plans for scouting's
"coming-of-age" party in February.
The national organization, backed by 5,000,000 men and boys who have been identified with it during the first 21 years, plans for something in keeping with the occasion. This city's program will be elaborate.

Someone asks what time the gen-closes at 5 p. m., all windows open at 7 in the morning and close at 6:30 in the evening.

Automobile traveling this weekend might not be the best should it turn in and snow, which the weath-

Today is Saturday, but just any number of folks—Pa New too—kept saying Tuesday.

One merchant said everyone must have figured their 1930 calendar not rush for new pads started today.

The 1930 pad will hang four days

Hear the difference in the siren call when the fire chief's little red roadster dashed away to answer an alarm today? The car now boasts the new siren received by the fire department last week. It is attach-stead of the top of the right fender.

The new siren can be heard for a greater distance, it is reported, because its location shelters it from wind.

COLLEGE TOWN IS ORGANIZED TO STOP BANDITRY; APPOINT DEPUTIES

Vigilance Committee Organized At New Wilmington To Halt Crime

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec.
27.—Steps have been taken by citizens of New Wilmington to put an end to banditry in the borough and even to discourage petty thieves who may think of the college town as an easy place to get money in unlawful manner.

A vigilance committee has been appointed, and, according to Col.
Dan McQuiston, shotguns and rifles as well as revolvers are loaded and outposts established which give the town protection from those who would steal and plunder.

In addition to the vigilance committee and several deputies to assist the town police, burglar alarms have been installed in a number of places of business in town, and a central burglar alarm has also been installed. A code of signals and a general alarm have been worked out, and citizens have been explained the system whereby the vigilance committee will work.

Guards have been posted on all roads leading out of town, and in case of burglar alarms, all cars will be stopped and held until the vigilance committee members together with police have an opportunity to check them all. Street barricades will be used in such emergencies.

The move on the part of the borough citizens was taken after four bandits, presumably from the Youngstown district, made two trips to town and were successful in holding up one citizen and a place of business.

Meadville Youth Killed In Crash; Four Others Hurt

Machine Upsets Returning From Dance—Youth Suffers Broken Neck

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 27.—Leonard Williams, 18, Meadville, High school pupil, was killed instantly today when pinned beneath an overturned car in which he and five companions were returning from a dance.

The youth, riding in the rumble seat of the car, sustained a broken neck. The car swerved off the Lakes-to-Sea highway at Hannaville, near here, and overturned.

Marietta Hipwell, 15, riding with Williams, sustained a fractured collarbone and bruises.

Harold Leonard, of Meadville, was believed to have been the driver of the car. Greatchen Fahr, 21, of Meadville, Agnes Carbaugh, 16, of Oil City, both suffering bruises and shock, were removed to the Franklin hospital.

Howard Grinnell, 21, of Meadville, riding with the party, escaped without injury.

Marshal Joffre Is Waging Death Battle

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
PARIS, Dec. 27.—French army headquarters late this afternoon refused to confirm or deny persistent rumors that Marshal Joffre had died.

These rumors gained considerable credence throughout Paris when it was learned that Dr. Leriche, Joffre's personal physician who had attended the Marshal for years, had left Paris to attend a funeral and would not return until Sunday.

"We can give no official confirmation to the rumors," army headquarters declared when advised of the rumor of Joffre's death.

Shooting Of Corporal Brady Paul Occurred One Year Ago Today

One year ago today, December 27, 1929, the Butler road, just outside of New Castle was the scene of a crime that shocked the entire nation. A corporal of the State Highway Patrol was murdered, his associate was wounded, and a few moments later a civilian was held up and his automobile stolen from him.
It was the most astounding crime in a year of startling criminal events
—the murder of Corporal Brady Paul and the wounding of Patrolman Ernest Moore.

New Castle first heard of the crime when the state police substation received a telephone call that one of their men had been shot. In a few moments state and county officers were on their way out, but in the meantime Paul had been rushed to the hospital, and Moore was taken in by a car that followed.

World Wide Interest.

At the moment it was a shock to the city and county, but in a few hours the message had been relayed to every part of the country. Police authorities of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and New York were notified to be on the lookout for a stout woman and two men. Roads leading in and out of New Castle were patrolled by heavily armed state policemen and suspects in half a dozen towns were taken in and attempts made to identify them.

The case had started in Butler, Pa., where a grocery store had been held up and robbed. The state police sub-station here was notified by telephone that the bandits had taken the road leading to New Castle.
The state police were not in at the time, and Corporal Brady Paul and Patrolman Moore of the State Highway Patrol answered the call.

Stationing themselves near a lane on the Butler road, about two miles from the city limits they kept on the lookout for a Chevrolet sedan. One with an Ohio license was stopped and the driver asked for his license.

Philadelphia Bank Is Scene Of Hold-up

Four Bandits Secure Total Of $25,000 In Morning
Effort

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Bandits for the second time within five years held up the Wyoming Ave. and Rising Sun Lane Branch of the Coke Bank and Trust Co. today and this time they escaped with a sum of money estimated at about $25,000.

The four bandits walked in, drew their guns and forced three employees and three customers to hold up their hands.

Then the leader, a tall man with a blue mask, walked behind the counter to where John E. Tyler, assistant treasurer, was clipping coupons. Tyler had not witnessed their entry, being intent on the work in front of him.

The first he knew of the holdup was when the blue-masked leader thrust a pistol into his back.

"We mean business," growled the leader, warning Tyler to keep quiet.
A second bandit, a burly fellow named Ruth O'Brien, a bookkeeper,
"Keep away from the phone," warned the bandit, leveling his gun at her.

Another bandit stepped behind the cage and cleaned out the drawers and the counter cash. The latter was done up in bundles of $5's, $10's and $20's.

All the money and bills were bundled into a bag.

At this moment, one of the customers, a woman, made a dash for the main entrance onto Rising Sun Lane.
The bandit didn't shoot, but leaped forward instead, grabbing her by the arm and threw her back against the wall.

Having gathered up all the cash in sight, the bandit leader signalled for retreat. The four men backed out, guns still in hand, and tumbled into a blue sedan.

Senator Norris Against Forming Of Third Party

Insurgent Group In Senate Will Seek To Reform
Republican Party

ELECTORAL COLLEGE PLAN IS ATTACKED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The insurgent group of the Senate, rallying around the leadership of Senator George W. Norris, will "bore from within" in an effort to reform the Republican party to their liking, rather than launch a third party at this time.

This was the situation today after Norris gently declined the invitation of Dr. John Dewey, noted political philosopher and educator, to initiate a third party movement in opposition to both the Republican and Democratic parties. Norris decided Dewey's suggestion was "impractical".

The insurgents, however, indicated they might have in mind a third party candidate for President in 1932. "This was the natural inference from a statement by Norris that he would sponsor a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college, thus permitting direct elections of Presidents. He argued the electoral college did not provide a truly democratic presidential election.

Norris' decision against starting a third party now had the endorsement of other insurgents. Norris pointed out that "in a practical sense the suggestion made by Dr.
Dewey cannot be followed at this time by the progressives in and out of the Senate, who believe as I do."
Norris said he did not regard the party as "sacred, but only as a bare instrumentality to government".

Alleged Hold-up Man Arrested

POLICE REPORT MAN CONFESSES

Less than four hours after he is alholdup along the Bessemer-Poland road in Pennsylvania last night, a man giving the name of Andy Marshall, living in the vicinity of Bessemer, was captured and lodged in Lewellville, O. jail. Efforts will be made to extradite the alleged bandit.

According to State Policemen Rich-

Constable Archie Shoup of Bessemer and Policeman Fai of Lowellville, while he was in an automobile in Lewellville. State Policemen Richards and County Detective Lee who were working on the case were apprised of his capture and following four hours grilling claim Marshall confessed to participating in the crime.

The robbery was reported and the county authorities, State Police and Constable Shoup went to work im-

HOOVER AND COOLIDGE MAY AID DEDICATION OF HARDING MEMORIAL

President Hoover May Make Address At Ceremonies
In Near Future

Harding's Friends Have Been Embarrassed By Delay In Formal Dedication

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.

—The great white mausole-um which friends of Warren G. Harding erected to his memory at Marion, O., probably will be dedicated in the near future, with both President Hoover and former President Calvin Coolidge attending the ceremonies.

Although the edifice was finished several years ago it has never been dedicated. During his presidency,
Mr. Coolidge several times declined to go to Marion for one reason or another, and efforts to find a suitable date since Mr. Hoover's incumbency have hitherto been unsuccessful.

The White House now announces, however, that Mr. Hoover will accept an invitation from the Harding Memorial Association when it is tendered, and the understanding is in Washington that Mr. Coolidge has also signified his willingness to attend.

Friends of the late president have long been embarrassed and to some extent incensed over the delay there has been in dedicating the memorial. Although the matter has been largely kept under the surface, it is known there has been criticism of both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover by friends of Harding because they never had been able to find a convenient time to attend a dedicatory ceremony. Not many months ago a resolution was introduced in the Republican State convention at Columbus requesting President
Hoover to dedicate the memorial.

The cornerstone for the memorial was laid in 1926, with then Vice President Charles G. Dawes presiding.

It is tradition that a presidential memorial be dedicated either by an incumbent president or a former president, and the Harding Memorial Association was unwilling to see the tradition broken by having the dedicatory ceremonies under other than presidential auspices.

Cost $700,000.
Also, it was felt that it was peculiarly fitting that either Mr. Hoover or Mr. Coolidge attend, for President Harding had appointed Mr. Hoover to his cabinet, and Mr. Coolidge had succeeded him in the presidency upon his sudden death in 1923.

The memorial itself cost approximately $700,000, which was raised by public subscription. It is of majestic proportions, built of Georgian marble, and is in the form of a circle, supported by 24 large white columns. It is located a short distance from Harding's old home in Marion. The bodies of the late President and Mrs. Harding lie in crypts under slabs of black marble.

Upturn Forecasted For Steel Industry Early In New Year

Conservative Steel Men Believe Business Will Pick Up In 1931

Rail Orders Continue To Increase With Pennsy Railroad Among Buyers

By SIDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—Despite the present recession in steel and iron operations, due in large measure to the annual inventory and holiday period, a natural accompaniment to the close of every year and hence discounted in the industry there is no paucity of signs which conservative steel men believe presage a definite upward trend in the first quarter of the new year.

In its latest summary of the iron and steel trade, the Iron Age points out that an upturn in activity early in 1931 is indicated by the continued improvement in steel specifications for January shipment. Although current shipping orders received by sheet and strip mills have been subjected to curtailment with the year-end retrenchment and the automobile industry and other consuming lines, the mills already are receiving specifications for January delivery.

Rail Orders Increase.
Rail order continue to increase with the Pennsylvania railroad in the market for 150,000 tons of rail and an option on 50,000 additional tons. The New York Central Lines have placed orders for 170,000 tons of rails for 1931, of which 11,380 tons will be rolled in Pennsylvania mills. On Monday, December 29, the New York Central will receive bids on its general steel requirements for the first quarter.

An order for 10,000 tons of rails by the Denver & Rio Grande Western and a prospective order of 36,000 tons by the Louisville & Nashville, in addition to last week's contract for 20,000 tons, have added to the totals. Despite sharp declines suffered by the railroads in traffic volume, the carriers have indicated willingness to purchase rails in substantial volume. If other steel-consuming operators swing into line behind this lead, steel men believe a decided impetus will be given to mill operations.

Rail contracts to date are smaller than at the same period a year ago but holdover tonnage, both in the hands of roads and still unspecified, indicates the 1931 track-laying programs will be fully as large and possibly larger than in 1930.

Take Inventories.
Rails, structural steel and tin plate are counted on for the most consistent support of mill operations in January, although releases in virtually all finished products should be stimulated by replenishment of sharply deflated inventories.

Finished mill products operations are featured by the activity of structural steel. Fabricated steel awards, at 37,500 tons, include 17,000 tons for two New York subway sections while new projects, at 41,000 tons, embrace 17,700 tons for a Washburn railway bridge over the Missouri river.

Pipe line projects, planned for the first quarter of 1931, are expected to materially aid the pipe makers. The contract for one large line which will require 60,000 tons may be awarded in the near future. In addition to new prospective lines, considerable tonnage will come from gathering lines and other auxiliary equipment required for large projects completed in 1930.

As concerns plates, shapes, bars and sheets, first quarter contracting has been in good volume with the needs of most of the smaller buyers already covered while hesitation on the part of some of the larger users is attributed to doubt as to the extent of their requirements, rather than because of price considerations. Price shading is less prevalent at the present time than it has been for the last several months.

1930 Bad Year.
The effect of steel production and distribution on inland waterways was demonstrated today with publication of figures showing that 17,850 tons moved during November on the Allegheny river; 75,202 tons on the Monongahela and 95,644 tons on the Ohio.

Robert H. Irons, president of the Central Iron and Steel company, Harrisburg, said: "Generally considered, the steel industry from our viewpoint, had a pretty bad year during 1930."

"The first three or four months were good, but since that time tonnage has decreased, prices have been lowered, and production reduced to the point where we are operating at about 60 per cent of the 1929 capacity.

Upturn Predicted.
"The industry, from our viewpoint, is bumping along the bottom. I would say that if prices strengthen considerably and no unlooked for contingencies arise, the steel business should see an upturn in 1931. How soon that upturn will come or how strong it will be cannot be forecast with any degree of certainty but I rather incline to a hopeful view for the coming year."

Frank E. Robbins, general manager of the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, declined to comment, stating that the main plant at Bethlehem would make any statement for the corporation as a whole.

The P. T. Bones company, importers, arranged to store goods in the warehouse of a storage concern. Then the Bones company took out insurance on the merchandise it was to store in that particular storage warehouse.

The storage company found that the warehouse crowded. The company owned the adjacent building on the north side of the warehouse, but it had not been using it. The storage company thought that this was a good time to begin using the structure. It therefore put the Bones merchandise into the adjacent building.

That night, through no fault of the storage company, a fire broke out in that building and the merchandise was destroyed. When the Bones concern tried to collect the insurance the company adjuster pointed out the change in location of the goods. The Bones concern then sued the storage company.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision.

Ladies finally got across one stream where they found a narrow place they could manage to jump across, but upon reaching the other side they were again in difficulties. Not seeing their way clear to do any other way but to wade through the stream, they ventured into a rear door of a sedan parked there, and went out through the other door and on to the sidewalk in perfect safety.

From present indications, there is going to be plenty of parking space on downtown streets after the first of year. Only about one in every six machines appears to have new license plates, and those who have not already secured them only have four more days in which to procure them. After that, they will be out of luck as far as driving their car is concerned, as the Highway Department plans to rigidly enforce the law and will not permit any extension of time.

L. L. O. I. 129 Yuletide Party

A Yuletide party of interest was that Friday evening of the Orange Ladies lodge 129 when they began the festivities with a delicious banquet at 6:30.

The tables had been placed in the form of a triangle, the emblem of the lodge and decorated in the lodge colors, with the red and green of the Yule season intermixed, thus forming a beautiful table as the tall tapers were lighted.

At the conclusion of a delicious menu there was after dinner speaking by various members of the order and an exchange of Christmas packages featured the hours; a special gift being presented to Mrs. Anna Whelan of lodge 24. Several guests from lodge 24 were present.

An entertainment followed the after dinner speaking with Misses Hollis and Coulter giving a piano duet, Mrs. Tillie Remley, a vocal solo; a recitation by Lemuel Wine; a song by Mrs. Mary Osler and a recitation by Hugh Shields.

At a late hour the members and guests departed wishing many more such happy events for the L. L. O. I.

boys and when Marshall is alleged to have seen the police approaching, threw the money to one of the small boys and said: "Don't tell them where you got it." The officers put Marshall under arrest and when the money was counted he had $225 of the alleged stolen $400. Marshall refused to confess to the crime until County Detective Lee and State Policeman Richards arrived at Lowellville. They grilled him several hours and he made a clean breast of the affair, according to the authorities. He was taken before Mayor Zuercher, Lowellville, charged with being a fugitive from justice, and ordered held. He was taken to the Mahoning county jail.

SHOOTING OF CORP. BRADY PAUL OCCURRED ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

The man stepped out of the car followed by a woman and as she stepped to the ground she covered Corporal Paul with a gun and began backing him up.

Open Fire On Moore.
At the same time a man in the back seat began opening fire on Patrolman Moore, hitting him in the nose, and later ereasing his scalp with a shot. As the woman backed Paul up the road she opened fire, hitting him in the abdomen. He fell mortally wounded.

Jumping in the car the bandits sped away and on Adams street held up Ray Horton and Miss Elsie Nickum, stealing Horton's car, leaving their own in Adams street.

Lieutenant Thomas Bittner of the State Police came to New Castle and found among the effects left in the car a Wheeling, W. Va., newspaper, and a sales slip from a Wheeling store. Acting on this tip he went to Wheeling and piecing together his clues deduced the fact that the bandit woman might be Irene Schroeder.

On the night of December 31st, Marshall Moran of the Bellaire, O., police found that Donnie Schroeder, son of Irene Schroeder was staying at the home of John Crawford, father of Irene. He communicated this fact to the state police and Private James Brooks went to Bellaire in the car of John A. Crowl.

As Brooks walked into the room where little Donnie was, the youngster shouted "Oh my mamma shot two cops like you." Brooks questioned the little fellow and he described how his mamma and "Daddy Dague" and Uncle Tom Crawford had held up stores, had shot the policemen on the Butler road and then stole an automobile.

Nation Wide Hunt.

Then began a nation wide hunt. Descriptions of the bandits were forwarded to police headquarters in every state east of the Mississippi. Apparently the bandits had dropped out of sight. Then came a sensational kidnapping of a deputy sheriff, Joe Chapman in Florence, Arizona, a gun battle with deputies in Chandler, Arizona, in which Chapman was wounded and Deputy Lee Wright so badly wounded that he died, and finally a wild and woolly capture of the bandits in the foothills of the Estrella mountains.

Officers were sent from New Castle to Phoenix, Arizona, where the bandits were incarcerated and on January 21 after identification, and an extradition hearing before Governor Phillips, the party started back over the trail to Lawrence county.

From Chicago east the train was the center of curious throngs. In Cleveland the bandits were shipped out the back way to the Erie station. In Warren, Niles and Youngstown, the stations were filled with people trying to get a glimpse of the famous pair and at New Castle there were thousands milling around the station and the jail.

The trial of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague came in March. Witnesses were called from Arizona, from St. Louis, from Pittsburgh, from New York and many other cities. The jury found the two guilty of murder in the first degree with the death penalty and this was appealed to the supreme court of the state. This court affirmed the findings of the lower court and fall.

John S. Fisher, ex-governor of New York, died on January 12th, 1931, as their date of execution. Later he granted a respite until the petition for commutation could be heard and this will be heard on February 18th. If this is refused the pair will die during the week of February 23.

No crime in this county, and few in the nation attracted the widespread publicity that this one did. Foreign newspapers carried accounts of the murder and the trial, newspaper men and women from New York to Chicago were here covering it.

Just one year from the date of their crime Irene and Glenn Dague are in the Lawrence county jail, hoping against hope that their last possible chance for life will not fail. Between them and the electric chair stands the decision of the Pennsylvania pardon board. With their decision handed down, the fate of the two is sealed.

Escapes Injury In Breaking Guard Gate

A Number Of Accidents On Streets Of The City Are Reported To Police

Clark Mann, 452 Neshannock avenue, had a narrow escape from probable serious injury on Friday, as he was driving the car of Earl E. Shipley of Youngstown, O., over the Pennsylvania R. R. crossing at Grant street.

He went through the one guard gate and as he did so noticed the approach of a train. In order to avoid being hit by the train, Mr. Mann continued on through the other guard gate. His car damaged both gates in getting across ahead of the train.

Harry Kelly of New Castle R. D. No. 9 reported Friday that he was enroute west on Croton avenue, and made a left hand turn onto Crawford avenue, when his car skidded and ran into the machine parked on Crawford avenue. Both machines were damaged.

T. J. Tyler, 1117 West Washington street, reported that he was driving the car of Walter V. Tyler west on West Washington street in front of the McIntosh store and had stopped to allow his mother to get out of the machine. As he did so, a truck of the Bell Telephone backed out from the place it had been parking and a ladder sticking out the end of the Bell company truck hit and damaged his car.

STAR LORE FINDING THE DECLINATION AND RIGHT ASCENSION OF ORION AND CAPPELLA

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Remember that the large constellation Orion is between the fifth and sixth hour meridians of R. A. (right ascension), counting the hour meridians eastward from meridian No. 1 that starts from near the star Polaris and crosses the equator at the Vernal Equinox. Orion is more than 15 degrees in width and extends roughly 10 degrees each side of the celestial equator. The familiar star Capella is about 40 degrees north of Orion, or 47 degrees declination north reckoning from the celestial equator. The star at the west side in Orion's belt is right on the celestial equator. Trace northward 47 degrees from that star and you arrive at "golden Capella".

MARSHAL JOFFRE IS WAGING BATTLE WITH DEATH

release. In an official statement from his bedside, his condition was declared as "alarming."

At 78 years of age, the white-haired old warrior had a fight on his hands against greater obstacles than he ever encountered on the western front. For with death from grave illness hovering near, the consummate strategy which enabled him to save Paris from the German rush at the Marne in 1914 was to no avail. The only hope was that his constitution, fragile from recurring illnesses, would be able to stave off defeat.

Marshal Joffre's grave illness was finally revealed today after days of persistent efforts on the part of his wife to keep the fact secret in order not to arouse alarm among the population which still idolizes him as greatly as in the days when he protected Paris from the invaders.

Professor L'Abbe, who aided in performing the operation upon the aged marshal, told International News Service that he and his colleagues had insisted upon making news of his illness public.

Amputate Leg.

Paris, Dec. 27.—The presence of gangrene following a serious operation for arteritis, or inflammation of an artery, has necessitated amputation of the right leg of Marshal Joseph Joffre, hero of the Marne, it was learned authoritatively by International News Service today.

The marshal's right leg was severed above the knee, it was learned. An official communique issued by his three physicians made no mention of the amputation, but stated that his condition was "alarming."

Final Honor Court Is Hope Of Locals

Scouts To Make Valiant Effort Monday To Boost Own Contest Standings

Boosted into a permanent lead after the Ellwood City district court of honor last night, Wampum's troop of Boy Scouts today topped Ellwood Troop 10, its closest rival in the county-wide troop efficiency contest, by 246 points. Wampum had 987 points; Ellwood claimed 741.

The competition, launched to stimulate greater interest and efficiency in the entire Boy Scout organization opened October 1, and closes next Wednesday. Wampum gained its lead early in the race.

New Castle's own court of honor, the final award session of 1930, will take place Monday evening in the First Christian church. Troop 15, highest rating local troop, is expected to move out of its present fourth place position. The change, however, will not affect the leadership.

Lineup This Morning.

Standings today were as follows:
Wampum 1	987
Ellwood 10	741
Ellwood 13	550
New Castle 15	435

had ever "evaded" the dedicatory ceremony.

George Akerson, secretary to the president, said: "When President Hoover is invited under the proper auspices he will accept the invitation to go to Marion. He has never yet been officially invited to dedicate the memorial." The phrase "proper auspices" was emphasized. It was understood to refer to the friction that has developed between officials of the Harding Memorial association and the White House over the situation.

No Confirmation.

MARION, O. Dec. 27.—If President Hoover is to deliver the address dedicating the memorial of late President Warren G. Harding here, he will have to make the offer to do so." Hoke Donithen, Marion attorney and secretary of the Harding Memorial Association, declared here today.

Although reports emanating from the White House in Washington, D. C., stated that the President would participate in dedicating the Harding Memorial, if invited, Donithen today declared that he has received no direct word from the White House.

Donithen said that, so far as he is concerned, no plans have been made for the dedication and "nothing will be done."

Hoover Refused.

"Of course," said Donithen. "If President Hoover personally offers to make the dedicatory address, we will accept his offer and will proceed to make arrangements for the dedication."

"An invitation was extended to President Hoover in the early spring of 1928 to make the dedicatory address, but he refused," Donithen continued.

Former President Calvin Coolidge is honorary president of the association. The 42 members of the association are scattered throughout the country. Donithen said that, from present indications, the Association's officials will not meet again until the regular annual meeting takes place next October.

Friction Continues.

MARION, Ohio, Dec. 27.—The friction between the Harding Memorial Association and the White House, over the dedication of the memorial to the late President Warren G. Harding, became further involved today when Hoke Donithen, Marion attorney and secretary of the association, indignantly refuted a statement from one of President Hoover's secretaries.

"Just what does President Hoover call an 'official invitation'?" Donithen demanded when he was informed that George Akerson, secretary to the president, declared in a statement today that the chief executive "has never yet been officially invited to dedicate the memorial."

Caterpillar Club Gains 141 In Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The most exclusive club in the air—the Caterpillars—which has neither officers nor dues, has gained 141 new members in the thirteen months since November, 1929.

Records, compiled by the New York Sun from army data, list 326 flyers who when danger threatened took to their parachutes and floated safely to earth from unmanageable airplanes.

The army and navy lead the list, followed closely by air mail pilots. John Boettner is listed as Caterpillar No. 1. His leap was made in 1919. Charles A. Lindbergh is a pioneer member, too. He jumped to safety from an unmanageable mail plane months before he flew to Paris.

BRITISH LEADER DIES.
(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 27.—Lord Melchett, one of Britain's leading industrialists, died at his home here today following an illness of several weeks.

Deaths of the Day

Thelma Lawson.

Word has been received by Mrs. Hilda Lawson of this city of the death of Thelma Lawson, aged 10, daughter of Frank and Kathryn Leprich Lawson, of Chicago, who died this morning in the Children's Memorial hospital of Chicago after an illness of a year.

The Lawsons were former residents of New Castle and Thelma was well known and popular among her playmates.

She is survived by her parents; three brothers, Dale, Russell and Donald; a sister June; an uncle, Michael Leprich, Chicago, and her grandmother, Mrs. Hilda Lawson of this city.

Funeral services will be held Monday from the family home in Chicago and interment made at that place.

Funeral of John McNeal.

Funeral services for John M. Francis McNeal, of Foxburg, Tuesday, December 23, were held from the residence of J. H. Forney, Maitland Lane, Friday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Edwards of the Emmenton Methodist church and Rev. Lollis of the Foxburg Episcopal church officiating. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, sent in sympathy for the untimely decease of Mr. McNeal.

A quartet, Arthur Irwin, James Dummire, Claude Stauble and Roy Tipper, sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."

The services were conducted by the Lodge of the Craft of which Mr. McNeal was a member. He also belonged to the Methodist church, the I. O. O. F. Encampment.

Interment was made in Neshannock cemetery with Stanley Treser, Albert Treser, William H. Arrow, James M. Elmore, J. J. Callahan and Carlton Smith bearing him to his last resting place.

Richard Russell Wain.

Richard Russell, the two and a half year old son of Harry A. and Anna Haggerty Watt, Melrose avenue, died at the family home this morning, following an illness of one week.

The child is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Lewis, Chris, Edith, Helen, Glen, Fred, Dorothy, Ralph, Shirley and Robert and a grandmother, Mrs. Sals Haggerty of Mercer.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the residence with Rev. W. H. Armstrong of the Wesleyan Methodist church officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Fowler Funeral.

Burial services for Mrs. J. W. Fowler, who died last Thursday, will be held from her late home at 616 North Cedar street on Monday, December 29 at 2 p. m. The Rev. W. W. Sniff, pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, of which she was a member, will officiate.

Later services will follow the home services in the Savannah M. E. church, from which interment will be made in Savannah cemetery.

Mrs. Susan Hildebrand.

Mrs. Susan Hildebrand, aged 83, widow of Solomon Hildebrand, who died in 1916, passed away at the home of her son, G. Dallas Hildebrand, 724 Court street at 12:40 this morning, following an illness of fourteen weeks of sleeping sickness.

Mrs. Hildebrand was born in Scott township, Lawrence county, the daughter of Robert and Mary Jordan McFarland and lived in the county until 1872, at the time she was married, when she moved to New Castle and had lived here since that time.

Mrs. Hildebrand was a member of the First Baptist church, taking an active interest in all its departments and belonging to the Women's Missionary society.

She is survived by three sons, G. Dallas Hildebrand, at whose home she died, Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand of Delaware avenue and Herman C. Hildebrand of South Orange, N. J. and ten grand children.

Mrs. Hildebrand was the last member of her family, a brother, George L. McFarland died in 1925 and another brother, Chester R. McFarland, died at Tampa, Fla., a year ago.

Funeral services will be held Monday, December 29, at 2 p. m. from the residence, 724 Court street, with Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Noah W. Elliott Funeral.

Solemn requiem mass marked the last earthly rites for Noah Walker Elliott, 207 East Lincoln avenue, this morning as services were held from St. Mary's church with Rev. Fr. McKeena as celebrant, Rev. Fr. Clifford as deacon and Rev. Fr. Nease as sub-deacon, with Rev. Fr. O'Shea, in the sanctuary. Bernard Rogan sang the mass.

Honorary pallbearers were E. E. McGill, John Watson, Samuel Foltz, Harry Alexander, Edward Beadel and Dr. Loyal W. Wilson, with those acting: Dr. R. B. Jameson, Lew Egan, Gerald Maher, John Elliott, Dr. John Meahan and E. F. Connelly. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The regular session of the W. B. A. 98 Friday night was turned into a Christmas party for the junior and senior members at the conclusion of a brief business session.

The hall had been artistically and handsomely decorated for the party, the holly, laurel and pine being profusely used throughout the room which was centered with a large Yuletide tree, with its glittering ornaments and soft colored lights, adding a glow of cheerfulness and happiness to the event.

Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, director of the juniors, had the program in charge of the address of welcome—Betty Jane Jones; recitation—Cecilia Jane Turner; song—Gerardine Vevens; recitation—Harriet Leigh; Billy Stevenson; Arthur Mielke; Margorie Carr and Georgai Wood; song—Mildred Clappie; recitation—Emma Clappie; recitation—Snooky Rohrer. Later, the juniors exchanged Christmas packages under the tree, and a Christmas lunch was served.

The committee who so successfully arranged all details included Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, Mrs. Henrietta Davis, Mrs. Margaret Hammond, Mrs. Anna Glitch, Mrs. Carrie Klingensmith, Mrs. Irene Gorley, Mrs. J. C. Turner, Mrs. Emma McKissick, Mrs. Adria Woods, Mrs. F. Holye and Miss Anna Patterson.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, January 9, and at this time there will be installation of the following officers: Anna Patterson, president; Mrs. Sarah Campbell, vice president; Miss Marie Fox, past president; Mrs. Margaret Beals, recording secretary; Mrs. Adrian Woods, treasurer; Mrs. Anna MacDonald, chaplain; Mrs. Clara Hartman, officer of the day.

FAMILY GATHERING AT HEWITT RESIDENCE

Another delightful dinner event on Thursday's calendar occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hewitt on North Mercer street, when they entertained at their annual Christmas event. After the sumptuous menu had been served, the hours were pleasantly spent socially with music and chat. Christmas decorations adorned the table, and also were further expressed in a clever way throughout the rooms.

Among the guests present included Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Semple of West Middlesex, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Semple, Mr. and Mrs. John Morris and Miss Jean Cozad, all of Hubbard, Ohio; Mrs. Mary A. Hewitt, Carl Hewitt and Betty Jane McBride of this city.

F. N. CLUB MEETS FRIDAY AT PRINCETON

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Taylor of Princeton were hosts Friday evening to associates of the F. N. Club when they gathered for their regular social event. Cards were in play, 500 being selected during the early part of the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Pitzer and Earl Friday for honors. Lunch was served at a late hour by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Braden. Christmas decorations were cleverly used in the menu details.

In two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Earl Friday will receive the club at their home.

Dinner Gathering

Mrs. Bertha Houk and Mrs. Mary Wimer were pleasing hostesses Christmas day when they entertained at a beautiful dinner in the formers home. Decorations suggestive of the season were used throughout in the home and in the table appointments. Covers marked for twelve guests. A period of radio music and chat was later enjoyed, also a number of solo dances were given by Miss Roberta Wimer.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wimer, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wimer, Junior and Robert Wimer, Clara Langlands, of town, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron McCandless and Arthur Wimer of Butler, and the hostesses, Mrs. Houk and Mrs. Wimer.

Dinner Event Enjoyable

Sheriff and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Court street delightfully entertained fourteen guests at their annual Christmas dinner which occurred in their home Thursday, December 25. Beautiful decorations of the season were used in the table arrangements, and throughout the rooms. The after dinner hours were pleasantly spent informally.

Guests Return Home

FIELD CLUB SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR MONTH

The house committees appointed at the New Castle Field Club have arranged a social calendar that will be of interest to all members of the families of its members and the program for the month of January looks most promising.

Albert B. Street is chairman of the social committee during this time, and besides planning similar activities that have been enjoyed in the past, a number of new features are in store.

The program is scheduled as follows:

Monday, Dec. 29, 1930, members' stag party.

Wednesday, Dec. 31, 1930, New Year's eve dinner-dance.

Thursday, Jan. 1, 1931, New Year's open house.

Thursday, Jan. 8, 1931, evening bridge party.

Monday, Jan. 12, 1931, stag party.

Tuesday, Jan. 13, 1931, ladies' luncheon-bridge.

Thursday, Jan. 15, 1931, something new, monthly club dinner.

Thursday, Jan. 22, 1931, regular Thursday night bridge party.

Monday, Jan. 26, 1931, another stag for the men.

Tuesday, Jan. 27, 1931, regular ladies' luncheon-bridge.

LOCAL GIRL WILL BE BRIDESMAID

Mrs. Lester Alexander of this city will be one of the attendants of Miss Anna Eastlick of Mercer, who will be married this evening at 8 o'clock to Samuel Roth of McKees Rocks in the Presbyterian church of Mercer.

Mrs. Alexander will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding. Miss Eastlick, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eastlick, has been engaged in newspaper work in Mercer for the past two years.

Hoyes-Steed Wedding

A pretty and important wedding of the Yuletide season occurred on Thursday, December 25 when Miss Mildred Hoyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hoyes of 260 West Washington street, Painesville, became the bride of Charles S. Steed of New Castle, at the home of the bride's parents at 10 o'clock.

The J. J. Wyeth, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, was the officiant, reading the nuptials before a gathering of immediate relatives of the young couple. Miss Hoyes was attended by Miss Laurel Thomas of Bank street, and Maynard Hoyes served his brother as best man. The bride and her attendant were charming in gowns, made on the fashions now decreed in shades appropriate to the season. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Hoyes home to a party of twenty-two relatives.

Miss Hoyes is a member of Painesville younger social set and is well known in many circles. For the past two years she has been employed in the office of the Gail G. Grant Co. Prior to that she was affiliated in the office of the Painesville Chamber of Commerce and the Painesville Automobile club.

Mr. Steed is field engineer for the Bates Valve Bag Corporation of New Castle.

Mr. Steed and his bride left for a wedding journey later in the day, and upon their return will be at home at 32 Hileman Apartment, New Castle.

Mr. Steed has been a much feted bride-elect. Entertainment for her began early in October and ended Saturday evening, December 13 when Miss Margaret Hickey of West Jackson street, entertained at the Spinster dinner.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Shaffer, Brooklyn, were hosts to members of the Shaffer family in their home Christmas day for the annual Yuletide dinner.

The table was appointed in colors in keeping with the season, tall lighted red tapers being used at the ends of a beautiful centerpiece of Christmas flowers.

The evening hours were spent in an informal manner with music and games as diversions.

Miss Ruth Brown of New York City was an out of town guest.

Dinner Guests

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cypher, a group of guests gathered Thursday, when they were entertained at a delicious Christmas dinner. The table appointments suggested the present season beautifully, and also were further expressed throughout the home.

Among the guests participating included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhorer, father and mother of the former, and Miss Peggy Rhorer.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS PRESENT AT DINNER

Special guests present at the family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ringer on Ray street Thursday included Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Miller and family, of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Miller and family of Portersville, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Miller and family of Niles, O., and the hosts. The guests were feted with a very delicious Christmas dinner which was served in the dining-room at 1 o'clock at a table beautifully decorated appropriate to the occasion. Covers were arranged for 20. After all had been served, the remaining hours were spent in sociability.

SALAMAGUNDI PARTY DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Misses Lois Williamson and Edith Dods proved charming hostesses Friday evening when they entertained twenty guests, including several from New Wilmington and Beaver Falls, at a Salamagundi party at the home of the former on Sheridan avenue.

The hours were pleasantly spent with a program of entertainments that kept things lively. At the conclusion of the leisure period, the hostesses served dainty refreshments. Christmas suggestions predominated in the menu details, and also added an air festivity throughout the house, with branches of holly and evergreens being placed about the rooms.

SISTERHOOD PLANS EVENING PARTY

Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, Mrs. Henry Sloan and Mrs. H. Robins will be hostesses to the members of the Beth Shalom Sisterhood Sunday evening in the center on Boyles avenue when they entertained at cards.

The hostesses have planned a delightful event and there will be a delicious lunch at the close of play.

Annual Family Dinner

A delightful dinner party was held at the home of Grant Matthews at the Harbor on Christmas day with twenty-five participating. After a very delicious menu had been served, games, music and chat were enjoyed as the diversions.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hunt, and sons Billy and Marvin of New Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Matthews and daughters Hazel, Pearl, Erma and Ida Grace and son Finley, Misses Mina and Irene Matthews of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Mattheis, and Miss Dorothy Wallace of Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Otis Matthews and sons, Charles and Howard, and daughters Grace and Betty, Mrs. Anna Houston, George Woods and Grant Matthews of the Harbor.

Christmas Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Klingensmith of 521 North Beaver street entertained a number of guests at their home on Thursday at a Christmas dinner and also celebrated the birthday anniversary of their daughter Mrs. P. G. Reed. The table was beautifully decorated in Christmas tones.

Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Reed and sons Junior and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rohrer, and daughters Myrtle Irene and Betty Lou, Mr. and Mrs. D. Gorley and sons Claire and Cramer William, William Dunlap, Paul Klingensmith, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Klingensmith.

Dinner At Krah's

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krah of Euclid avenue had as their guests Christmas, the Rev. Fr. Regis Krah of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krah and son Eugene and daughter Mary of Forestville, Mr. and Mrs. William Krah and daughters Ruth and Katherine of Ellwood City, and Mrs. Harry Mohlman of this city and Thomas Atkinson of Sandy Lake. Christmas decorations were tastefully used in the table appointments where the delicious menu was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Headings Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Headings of West Edison avenue charmingly entertained nineteen guests in their home Thursday at a beautifully appointed Christmas dinner. A delicious full course menu was served at the select hour, and later, informal pastimes including games, and music were enjoyed.

Depart For South

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Eckles, East Moody avenue, left the city last night to spend the winter months in the warm Florida climes. Accompanying them was their son, Donald, who expects to return north at the close of the holiday period to resume his studies at the Harvard medical school.

Entertains Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cea of 518 East Long avenue entertained a number of guests at their home on Friday night. Music and singing were the pastimes of the evening after which delicious refreshments were served.

T. B. L. Club

The T. B. L. Club members will be entertained Thursday evening, Jan. 1, by Mrs. John Garner, who will act as hostess at Lakewood.

DANCE AT NURSES HOME FINE SUCCESS

A delightful social event which occurred Friday evening, and one of the most interesting of the season, was the holiday dance given by the graduate nurses of the Jameson Memorial hospital for the student nurses in the beautiful home on Wilmington avenue. As special guests, they invited the hospital Board and the Medical Staff, who participated in the entertainment.

At 8:30 o'clock the guests started gathering in the ball room which was a bower of beauty with its Christmas decorations. A huge tree, beautifully decorated with ornaments, and dimly lighted, made a most pleasing setting for the formal gowns worn by the girls. A program of excellent music was enjoyed throughout the evening. At 11 o'clock, a tempting collation was served by the appointed committee which included Mrs. Irene Casillo, Mrs. Elizabeth Willmarth, Misses Ruth Dean, Alice Braatz and Charlotte Diehl. The reception committee comprised Mrs. Irene Casillo, chairlady, Miss May Crouch, Miss Lena Allison.

At a late hour, all departed, voting their first entertainment of this nature to be held at the nurses home, a decided success.

TWELVE GATHER FOR FAMILY DINNER

Twelve guests participated in the Christmas dinner held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. Cox on Garfield avenue, Thursday evening. The table was prettily decorated in Christmas suggestions, each place being marked with red poinsettia favors. A full course menu was served at 6 o'clock, and later the hours were spent informally.

Tuesday Kensington

The Tuesday Kensington members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Paul D. Weller on Glenmore boulevard Tuesday, December 30 instead as previously planned. The event will be in the form of a New Years party and the husbands will be special guests. The evenings activities will begin promptly at 6:30 o'clock.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Paul D. Weller, chairman, Mrs. C. L. Hughes, Mrs. Stan Treser, Mrs. Lillie B. Jones, Mrs. James L. Mores and Mrs. J. W. Reimold.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hogue of 1806 Hamilton street wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Bertha of Albert Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cross of East Brook. The wedding date has not yet been selected.

Contest Closes Sunday Morning

First Baptists To Make Final Effort To Best Norristown In Attendance Contest

The friendly contest between Norristown and New Castle Baptist churches comes to a close Sunday morning, December 28 when the local church of which Paul D. Weller is superintendent, makes a special effort to make up the eight points they are behind in the battle.

The Baptist folks the asking that all their members attend Sunday as an attendance of 1500 will put the school over the top. The plans are for 275 men in the Men's Bible class and at least 400 visitors, these being members of the church, who are not members of the Sabbath school, and the homes of the congregation where there are out of town guests will be represented by both members and guests.

C. W. Van Nort and Paul D. Weller have made a strong appeal to the Baptists to help put over this contest by a record breaking attendance Sunday.

HOLIDAY MAIL WELL HANDLED

WITH the titanic rush of mail that always hits the postoffice the last few days before Christmas, again disposed of, there is a large measure of credit due the New Castle postal workers for the efficiency with which the mail was handled this year.

Starting out earlier in the month in a manner that indicated the Christmas mail would not be as heavy as in former years, the avalanche broke with Monday of this week, and a bigger volume of business was piled upon the postoffice than in any day in its history. The rush continued up to Christmas. Despite the cramped quarters and the immense volume of mail the postoffice force here handled all of it expeditiously and there was no swamping of the office at any time.

Postmaster E. W. Crawford, and all associated with him in the work are to be commended for the way the mail was handled this year. Our only regret is that we cannot be entirely certain that ere another Santa Claus period comes around, there will be a new postoffice and adequate quarters for the postmen here.

SMALLER TOWNS TO HALT CRIMES

Following the "two sorties into the community of a gang of thieves apparently from the Youngstown district, New Wilmington has taken effective steps to protect its citizens, a most commendable move.

Deputies who saw World War fighting have been named, officers are on guard in the boro at night, and an effective system of burglar signals for a vigilance committee has been developed.

Crooks invading New Wilmington in the future are going to find a difficult job in getting away with their plans.

Over in Bessemer, another community on the outskirts of Lawrence county, police have been employed, and steps taken to provide protection to the boro from law breakers. It will not be wholesome for any bandits to visit this boro either in the future.

What has been done at New Wilmington and Bessemer should be the program for other communities at this time. Unusual means have to be taken to put a halt to the wave of robberies and banditry in the district at this time.

THE LIVING CHRISTMAS TREE

Each year the living Christmas tree increases in popularity. Perhaps the day will come when dead trees will no longer seem an appropriate expression of the Yuletide spirit.

Those who have small evergreens out of doors decorate them with lights, while others who have no living Christmas trees ready at hand buy little trees in tubs and after New Year's store them away in their basements and plant them in the spring. To be sure many of these tub trees do not survive; but some do, and there is always the pleasure of hope.

There is no hope at all for the beautiful young spruce which is cut and carted and sold and stands about the house till it begins to be a nuisance by shedding its dead needles and winds up as something for the rubbish man to haul away to the dump.

LASHES ON THE BARE BACKS OF BANDITS

Judge Joseph Buffington of the Circuit Court of Appeals has long been an advocate of the whipping post for prisoners convicted of banditry and crimes of violence. The legislature of Pennsylvania, about to assemble, will have opportunity to pass upon a proposed law carrying the plan into effect. No doubt several bills will be offered. In any event, Judge McDade of the Delaware County Court is asking Representative Turner to introduce and advocate a measure that will establish the post.

"I concur with Judge Buffington," Judge McDade informs Mr. Turner, "that the lash applied publicly on the backs of a dozen bandits would do more to rid Pennsylvania of banditry than a thousand prison sentences." And The Inquirer concurs with the two judges. "In the almost complete failure of means to stamp out banditry," the Delaware county jurist writes, "certainly the whipping post deserves a trial."

It does. A revision to legal brutality, some may say. But such an argument must fail in face of the fact that brutality is the resort of the criminals who are preying by force upon communities everywhere. England continues to use the lash, and crime in England is small compared to crime in the United States. Canada, too, is no stranger to the lash, and everybody knows that the state of Delaware refuses to give it up.

Judging from experience, the whipping post is a powerful deterrent. Youthful bandits—youth men tempted to join the ranks of the violent to obtain easy money—may be willing to take their chances of a jail sentence, but a whipping—and Judge McDade would have it publicly done—would be another matter. The disgrace of it would sink deeper into their consciousness than the dread of physical pain. A criminal may go to jail and become a hero among his associates upon his release. But the lash would bring shame that could not be lived down.

In these days of banditry running wild any effort to combat it is justified. The legislature of Pennsylvania should recognize the fact and act accordingly.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Discipline Yourself

The goods of this world may not be divided as they should be. Perhaps you have, possibly you haven't what you think your due. What good does it do you now to worry over what is lost?

It may be that you are unfortunate as a money-maker.

On the other hand you may be a good money maker but a poor saver.

Perhaps you have never grown up in a financial way.

As a child, you wanted to spend every cent that came into your possession.

It has been the same throughout your life but with larger amounts. You have not "stood prosperity" very well.

You let your expenditures increase with your earnings.

It has been easier to spend as you went than to control your desires.

You have had a fairly happy time through life and never burdened yourself with cares that would have brought to your earning capacity.

You have had a good time and bought all you could pay for. Now, your dose may be bitter, but

HOW DO YOU KILL FEAR?

I read this in "Lord Jim," that strange, tangled story that Joseph Conrad wrote:

"Nothing easier than to say. Have no fear! Nothing more difficult. How does one kill fear, I wonder? How do you shoot a specter through the heart, slash off its spectral head, take it by its spectral throat? It is an enterprise you rush into while you dream, and are glad to make your escape with wet hair and every limb shaking. The bullet is not run, the blade not forged, the man not born; even the winged words of truth drop at your feet like lumps of lead. You require for such a desperate encounter an enchanted and poisoned shaft dipped in a lie too subtle to be found on earth. An enterprise for a dream, my masters!"

But that's not Joseph Conrad speaking. It's one of his created characters, talking in a book. That brave, troubled man Conrad killed fear many and many a time . . . as a boy, leaving his native Poland, to sail the seas; as a stalwart young sailor facing the storms and the darkness; as a sailor determined to be a writer in a foreign tongue; as a writer, struggling against poverty and neglect and the apparent hopelessness of winning his way in a strange land; and even after he had reached the port of fame and was known everywhere, he killed fear in many another heart with his kindness and his encouragement and the help he held out to people around him.

But I do not, know what Conrad meant when he wrote that you cannot kill fear except with an enchanted shaft dipped in a subtle lie. You can kill fear if you say to yourself: "I do not count. I am little. I am unimportant. But courage is important and it is important that I live. Because life is worth while and we must not let life down by cowering and yielding to fear. We are little, but we must be mightier than all the hosts of fear."

Is that "a lie too subtle to be found on earth," something found only in a dream and never embodied on earth? I do not think so. Nor do I believe that Conrad himself thought it a lie. He knew how to kill fear and his life was a lesson too, for other men in the conquest of fear.

Prohibitionists are not seriously concerned, and anti-prohibitionists are not seriously elated over the decision. It is the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, with the conclusion that "the Constitution is construed with great liberality by the supreme court when questioned, and a political character is involved, and a prohibition business is most decidedly political in its character and is to be determined by public opinion and not by judicial decree." Arguing that the "wets" while not abandoning the hope of support in the higher tribunals await the verdict without much enthusiasm, the SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS states that "the legal issue will be carried forward by the 'drys' with all speed and earnestness."

"The decision must be of academic interest," thinks the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL. "It is not strange, with vast numbers of people dissatisfied with prohibition, that an attempt should be made to undermine the foundation of the law, or that a judge should be found to give the attempt momentary and local effect. When a law is unpopular, but not popular enough to insure direct repeal, its opponents may be expected to explore the bypaths for possible relief. Such a bypath has now opened. Those who are walking with Judge Clark doubtless see rosy visions, but it rests with the supreme court to decide whether traffic may be resumed. Even the most sanguine may well doubt the supreme court's approval."

"Article V of the Constitution," according to the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, "duly ratified by the people more than a century ago, is a part of the Constitution and to hold that the power there given to congress to determine the mode of ratification does not in truth give that power, is just moving with the organic law."

The CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR concludes that Judge Clark "has raised and brilliantly argued an interesting point," but maintains that "the way to get rid of the evils of prohibition is not through the judicial branch of the government." The ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS dismisses the matter with the statement: "It answers no question; it merely raises one."

The MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL remarks that "the view is almost unanimous that the amendment will not be wiped from the statute books by court construction."

"Although Judge Clark has been hailed as a liberal judge, his theories about the way to amend the Constitution, if put into practice prove exceedingly conservative," suggests the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL. The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR states: "If Judge Clark's decision helps to bring it about that amendments will be made hereafter only by state conventions, expressly called for this purpose, he will have rendered a very real service."

"The argument is not lightly to be dismissed," says the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "that the power of amendment should not be given to something less than 1,500 men who, under pressure of an organized minority, may vote against the convictions of the majority of those whom they represent."

Here's the law, for winners, losers; After "onesers" come the "tossers" Just as sure as ropes make hawesers Come the "threesers" then the "foursers."

Then the tricky stuff commences, "Pigs must jump above the fences," "Baby in the high chair," sticks you!

But if not "Slowpoke" will fix you, Then come "eggsters in the basket." What is that? You'll have to ask it. "Pump" the well! the game gets faster.

Average Cost Of Divorce At Reno Is $350

Necessary To Remain In Nevada City For Three Months

RENO, Dec. 27.—The average cost of a Reno divorce is about $350, although it is possible, with some sharp bargaining, to obtain a decree for less.

The minimum fee for an attorney in an uncontested case is fixed by the Nevada Bar association at $250, but the actual fee ranges from $50 up. The fees probably average $250 for the plaintiff to which is added about $25 for court costs and filing fees, and $25 for an attorney for the defendant. If there is trouble with the defendant and he refuses to sign a power of attorney or decides to contest the suit, the costs mount.

Probably the average New Yorker of moderate means spends about $1,000 for a Reno divorce, including railroad fare, living expenses for three months and attorney's fees. However, it is possible for a person to travel from New York to Reno and return with a decree in hand at a cost of as low as $600.

No attorney will accept a person from New York to come to Reno without a "power of attorney" from the prospective defendant in the case if it is at all possible to procure one as such divorces, granted by default when the defendant is not represented in New York state.

The cost of having an attorney in court to represent the defendant, making the divorce decree legal anywhere, ranges from $10 to $200.

It is necessary to remain in Reno for three months before the divorce action can be filed, but the divorce will be granted immediately if the applicant has that most valuable power of attorney.

Otherwise the defendant must be served personally with a copy of the complaint, or by publication, and then 40 days must elapse before the divorce is granted. One does not, however have to remain in Reno or Nevada during that 40 day wait, but must be here for the hearing.

Says Skidding Caused By Two Main Factors

Motorists Warned To Be Doubly Careful During Coming Winter Months

Skidding is a deadly foe to safety, particularly during the winter season, according to Ralph W. Bolinger, president of the New Castle Automobile Association, and motorists often ask the question, "What causes the car to skid?"

Mr. Bolinger pointed out that there are two factors in skidding, either of which is liable to result in serious damage to the car and injury to its occupants.

"The car usually starts to skid when it is on a slippery down grade and there is too much pressure on the rear brakes," he stated. "If it is made too wide on a slippery street at fast speed; and when the brakes are jammed on suddenly on icy or wet streets," he stated.

"Some engineers suggest that in winter driving, where the car has four-wheel brakes, that the brakes should have sixty per cent pressure on the front wheels and forty per cent on the rear. This is claimed to prevent the locking of rear wheels and prevent a skid."

"Under ordinary conditions, however, the safe way is to apply the brakes slowly and not jam them on suddenly. Another helpful factor is to make turns on a short radius and at a reasonable speed. If it is necessary to apply the brakes, there is a greater margin of safety."

Dairy Meetings To Interest Farmers

Economical dairy feeding will be the topic of discussion at a series of dairy meetings to be held Tuesday, the first meeting will be held at 9:30 a. m. in the Volant mill, followed by a second meeting in Pleasant Hill Grange hall in Perry township, at 2 p. m.

In order that the dairyman can show a profit at the end of the year it is necessary for him to lower the cost of production as much as possible. Economical feeding is one method of lowering these costs. A representative of the Dairy Department of State college will be the principal speaker at the meetings. All dairymen are invited to attend.

Reeves Presents His Statement

Gives Another Angle On Controversy Over Firemen's Insurance Funds

SAYS SOLICITORS
STAND IS CHANGED

Councilman Clayton H. Reeves, superintendent of the department of public safety, today commented briefly on the statement of Solicitor Robert McKinney White yesterday relative to state fire insurance moneys sent to the city and pensions.

Reeves alleged that the statement does not "jibe" with the opinion which White had furnished council and requested that the portion of the 1922 pension fund ordinance and the summary of White's opinion be printed. Today he prepared for publication the two items.

The first, an ordinance, 3629, council bill 81, introduced by Councilman Davies, November 27, 1922, and passed finally December 12, 1922, with Councilman W. T. Burns presiding as chairman of council, and according to Reeves, termed valid by White contains the first four sections, as follows:

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the council of the city of New Castle, Pa., that there is hereby created a "pension fund" from which shall be paid old age pensions to all policemen and firemen in the said city entitled thereto under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 2. The said fund shall be created and maintained as follows: (a) By the appropriation and setting apart annually at least 1 per cent of all the taxes levied for city purposes, that is, the moneys levied for general revenue purposes in said city, and the said moneys shall be levied, appropriated and set apart to the said purpose each and every year without the passage of any further ordinances.

(b) From the moneys received from the state payable by the state treasurer out of the state taxes collected from foreign insurance companies and paid to the city treasurer, there shall be taken and there is hereby appropriated each year the same amount of moneys as are received and paid to the city treasurer from the 1 per cent tax levy mentioned above in (a). The funds thus united from the taxes and from the moneys received from the state treasurer shall constitute the "pension fund" aforementioned to be used for the purpose of this ordinance.

Section 3. The council of the said city is hereby constituted the pension board for the purpose of this ordinance, and as such shall have the control, management and direction of the said "pension fund". The proceedings of the said pension fund shall be kept separately from the minutes of council in a book procured for said purpose. Any moneys on hand at any time not needed for the payment of pensions shall be, by the council acting as the said pension fund, invested in government securities for the benefit of the said fund.

Section 4. The amount to be paid to any policeman or to any fireman as a pension under this ordinance shall be based on a percentage of the average salary of each, respectively, which was paid to the said policeman.

The several paragraphs following, according to Reeves, is the summary of the opinion given to city council by Mr. White and follows:

First: That if the city proposes to pension firemen, policemen or other employees, that it should establish a separate pension fund for each class of employees, according to the particular acts relating thereto.

Second: That the present ordinance is a valid one, although not in perfect harmony with the act relating to firemen's pensions.

Third: That the city having deemed it expedient and deciding to set apart a policeman's and fireman's pension fund and have appropriated a part of the taxes of the city to that fund, those taxes should immediately upon their collection be segregated and turned over to the pension board for investment.

Fourth: That an amount of money collected from the state out of state taxes collected from foreign insurance companies and paid to the city treasurer equal to the appropriation made by council from taxes to the pension board immediately upon its collection.

Fifth: That the council, as such, and the officers of the city have no authority nor right to use any portion of the funds appropriated to or set aside for the pension board for any other city purpose or any other purpose whatsoever except upon the recommendation of the pension board.

Sixth: That the money turned over to the pension board which was collected from the state can be invested, used or disposed of only as provided by the pension ordinance.

To Get Woman Angle

Mrs. Frances Whitehead.

"While it is reasonable to suppose that the traffic problems of women shippers are essentially the same as men's, women may approach them from a little different angle," says Mrs. Frances Whitehead, newly appointed assistant to the president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad. Mrs. Whitehead will represent the woman's viewpoint in railroad problems.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

A SUGGESTION FOR UNEMPLOYED

Election signs should come down and right now. Who's going to pay for it? It might be a good idea to ask the loser of the election to do so as a penalty for losing—the idea might be good, but the practice would undoubtedly fall short.

The winner might be approached, but too often election winners take the stand "I'm in now so why should I be annoyed?" So that is not so good, although these winners could be reminded that there is always another election, and here is an opportunity to win the lasting good will and favor of every civic-minded individual in the community. The winner might say that he would like to do it, but has no money with which to have it done—just ask him, in such case, where he got the money to buy these signs.

There are many ways to influence election winners to do this, but of course you can not expect them to do it unless you ask them to. After they have been asked, other measures can be employed in case they refuse.

There could be no harm in asking the city to "clean up for business sake." A petition signed by all members of your organization, plus the signatures of all business property owners asking city officials to remove election signs and other unsightliness at the same time would be inexpensive and apt to bring good results.

If this fails, then appeal to business men and business property owners for a fund to "clean up for business sake." Give your deserving unemployed the job of picking the tacks out of telephone poles, removing election debris, cleaning up gutter refuse, pulling the dead grass and weeds out of the sidewalks and curbs of the business section, cleaning the alleys, painting out old, faded wall signs on business buildings, cleaning up the rubbish on vacant lots, leveling off vacant property for use as auto parking space, tearing down all old tumble-down shacks that are eyesores to the community, making highway entrances and areas around depots inviting. There is work for many men which will pay your organization, every business man and every property owner, whether business or residential, a double profit.

There is nothing much for individual glory in doing this; there is little entertainment and less to "whoop and holler" about; therefore it will lack appeal to many organizations. BUT it will pay a profit, not only now, but in the months and years to come.

For business sake DO something like this, and then tell the world you have DONE it—it will pay and well.

Parents' Night At Happy Hour In Baptist Church

The children who have been attending the Happy Hour in the First Baptist church each Friday evening, had a program Friday evening to which they brought their parents.

At 7:30 the assemblage was addressed by Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the church, who with Mrs. Landis has charge of the kiddies during these Happy Hours they spend together. He explained the work being done by the children and what they are trying to accomplish in this hour together.

A splendid review of "Ben Hur," written by Lew Wallace, was given by Rev. Landis, with lantern slides depicting various scenes in the life of Ben Hur and his connection with the life of Jesus Christ.

Closing the program rewards were given the children for attendance at the sessions and those who had attended every session were presented with medals, on which were inscribed Bible verses; the other children who had made chorus books were also rewarded and there was a remembrance for all the children present.

The sessions will continue Friday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock.

GROVE CITY

One hundred and twenty-two guests of the Wayside Inn at Grove City, the Western Pennsylvania home for aged and infirm Old Fellows, was the scene of an unusual Christmas event. The gifts that have been arriving for a week from friends and relatives as well as lodges of the district were opened by the 102 men and 20 women that constitute the guest roll. All but nine were able to dine on chicken dinner at noon followed by a special service. The Slippery Rock Rebeccah Lodge; the past grand of the lodges of Butler county, 70 in number; lodges of the order from Pittsburgh to Erie all played Santa Claus.

For a week now there have been delegations of hospitable lodge members calling at the home making sure by the gifts left that the lodge would be a happy one for the guests.

The peak day of the Grove City postoffice during the Christmas rush was Monday when 32,000 letters passed through the machine. Employees were on duty until 4 a. m. Tuesday getting out the mail.

Thirty regular and extra employees were on duty.

From Saturday until Wednesday 800 sacks of parcel post were dispatched.

For over a week the parcel post incoming shipments averaged over 200 sacks daily.

Twenty four prayer meetings are scheduled for next week on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in homes of Grove City. Details of this week of prayer were outlined at the ministers and church representatives this week.

Following this week of prayer, a week of prayer for all churches of the town will be held in the United Presbyterian church. Grove City people and organizations are asked to make arrangements so that this week of prayer may be a success.

James King and Margaret Allison of South Center street, this place obtained a marriage license here Wednesday and the couple will be married at once.

Mr. King was born in Scotland and Miss Allison is also a native of Scotland.

Fellow Rotarian:
Two things are sure—death and taxes. Some of us know where we are going after death but we don't know so well where our tax money goes. So Bill Bingham has decided that we ought to know and he has asked City Controller Phil Greer to tell us "What Becomes of Your Tax Dollar."

This is a mighty interesting subject but the basis of the tax is the assessment of your property. Let us have a discussion sometime on a continuous sitting appraisal board. Our Club favored that one time but a councilman who owned Washington street property said "No."

Present Play In Third Church

Christmas Myth Is Depicted
Friday Evening By Members Of Third United Church

A play in three acts, based on a Christmas myth of the long ago, "The Boy Nobody Wanted" was given Friday evening in the Third United Presbyterian church. The action is laid in a little town of central Europe among simple folk steeped in the legends and superstitions of their day and this setting also furnishes the background for their religious beliefs and practices.

The various parts were splendidly taken under the direction of W. H. Schenfeld. The orchestra, which furnished the musical accompaniment and special numbers was directed by Watson Wilson.

Those taking part in the play were:

Cotton Industry Has Confidence In Future

Products Of Cotton Industry Are Indispensable To Modern Civilization

Constructive Forces Are At Work—Look For Increased Business In 1931

By W. S. COUSINS
Financial Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Decided progress was made this year in dealing with the cotton textile industry's problems, and constructive forces are at work in the industry to a greater extent than at any time since the late war.

George A. Sloan, president of the cotton textile institute, Inc., in thus presenting for international news service today the platform of anticipated improvement in the cotton goods trade, points out that the industry has "undergone a general overhauling in fundamentals and this, coupled with the increasing tendency of mill executives to avoid overproduction, affords a basis for reasonable confidence in the future."

Production Balanced.
"The mills," said Mr. Sloan, "have shown a determined evidence of willingness and ability to balance production with demand. Latest available data show (1) mill inventories of cotton grey goods 25 percent lower than at the close of 1929; (2) the aggregate of both sales and shipments exceeded production during the first eleven months of 1930."

That inventories were reduced under the difficult conditions in 1930 is proof of the discrimination with which mill executives are interpreting the statistical reports and is an indication of the increasing degree of sound merchandising manifest in the industry.

"Likewise mill executives are devoting greater attention to the subject of cost procedure as a guide to intelligent sales policies. Indeed at its present rate of improvement his should soon become one of the outstanding industries with respect to cost methods."

Mr. Sloan stated that the question of discontinuing night employment of women and children is receiving special attention at the year-end. Already, he says, mills representing 22,600,000 spindles, or 72 percent of the industry have announced their purpose to discontinue night employment of women and of minors under 18 years of age before March 1, 1931.

Will Cut Hours

"This night work proposal was a sequel to another recommendation submitted to the industry last February, when a group of nineteen leading mill executives undertook to promote greater uniformity in running time by discouraging long working hours. Wide fluctuations in the rate of production and employment has been the source of ever recurring distress in many mill villages. Thus early in the year there developed a general recognition and observance of the principle that the maximum running time for labor and machinery should not exceed 55 hours for the day shift and 50 hours for the night shift where employed. The significance of this recommendation is appreciated more fully in mill centers accustomed previously to aggregate day and night operations ranging from 110 to 138 hours weekly."

"Efforts to enlarge export markets," said Mr. Sloan, "were undertaken during 1930 through the formation of the Textile Export Assn. of the United States, and new facilities for arbitration among import-export groups are being developed through the organization of the general arbitration council of the textile industry. Moreover 1930 saw new impetus given to research activities through the organization of the textile foundation by the government in collaboration with the various branches of the industry."

Bright Features
"The present demand for cotton yarn and fabrics leaves much to be desired although such a condition can only be temporary with an industry whose products are indispensable to modern civilization. Nevertheless there are a number of bright features in the present market situation especially in respect to the sustained demand for styles cottons. Trade and consumer advertising in 1930 helped to maintain a nationwide interest in the fashion importance of cotton. Increased activity along national advertising lines is being strongly advocated by the Cotton Textile Institute for 1931."

"The cotton textile industry of the United States has undergone a general overhauling in fundamentals during 1930 and this, coupled with the increasing tendency of mill executives to avoid overproduction, affords a basis for reasonable confidence in the future."

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

Who was the Russian author who wrote "Crime and Punishment," and when did he live?

"Crime and Punishment" was written by Fyodor Dostoyevsky, son of a Moscow physician, who lived from 1821 to 1881. He had tremendous power of psychological analysis. He is regarded as one of the greatest novelists the world has produced.

What date is generally assigned to the first historical reign in Egypt? There is great difficulty in the matter of chronology of ancient Egypt. The Egyptians themselves had no fixed era, but dated by the reigns of the respective kings. Different systems of modern scholars lack uniformity, as for example, in the reign of King Menes the first historical reign which is given by various authorities from the years ranging from 5702 B. C. to 2900 B. C.

Who was Enoch Arden? Enoch Arden was the hero and title character of a narrative poem by Tennyson, written in 1864. He is a shipwrecked sailor who finally returns home and finds his wife remarried. He leaves her to her new life, peacefully, unconscious that her first husband is still alive.

Where did polo originate? Polo is the most ancient of all games of stick and ball. It had its origin in Persia, where certain odes thought to antedate the Christian era celebrate the glories of the game.

Who first advanced the idea of the automobile? The idea of a mechanically propelled vehicle for roads is as old as the early days of the steam engine. In 1860 Sir Isaac Newton proposed a steam carriage to be propelled by the reactive effect of a jet of steam issuing from the nozzle at the rear of the vehicle. In 1769 a Frenchman built two steam carriages, one of which is still preserved. The modern period of development in the auto began in 1884, when Gottlieb Daimler invented a small, high-speed gas engine.

In what years did Aristotle, the Greek philosopher, live, and in what city? Aristotle lived from 384 to 322 B. C. He was born at Stagira, a Greek town of the Chalcidic, the present Stavro. He died in Chalcis after fleeing from Athens.

For what is poppyseed oil used? Poppyseed oil is used for salads, soap stock and as a paint vehicle.

Mussolini Will Speak On Radio New Year's Day

Nation-Wide Hookup Will Carry Italian Premier's Speech To United States

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Premier Mussolini will give his first address to an American radio audience on New Year's day when he speaks from Rome under a motion broadcasting company arrangement. He will speak in English.

The Italian premier's voice will be transmitted to the United States by short wave and then rebroadcast over a nationwide hookup.

The time of the broadcast is from 1 to 1:15 p. m. eastern standard time.

Mystery Play At Trinity Church

Presentation Of Christmas Mystery Play Will Be Given Monday Evening

An unusually strong cast will present the Christmas Mystery Play in the Guild Room of Trinity Church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This is a part of the annual entertainment for the whole parish, especially the 6th and higher grades of the Church school, their parents and friends.

The play, "The Next-Door House" is by the noted writer Margaret Cropper, author of "A Mirror for Souls," etc., and illustrates how the spirit of Christmas brought happiness into one house. It is in two acts, which show how a very rough and turbulent man was changed when brought under the spell of the sincere application of the Christmas message in every day life.

Cast:
Good Sense, a woman—Helen M. Grofend.
Young Heart, a girl—Lillian G. Moran.

Common Talk, a neighbor—E. June Logan.
Four children—A. Irene Heitsch, A. Verna Heitsch, Robert S. Johnson and Frank H. Robinson, Jr.

Down in the Dust, next door neighbor to Good Sense—Helen Lyle.
Evil Heart, her husband—Dudley M. Arnold.

The Virgin—Margaret R. Copson.
Good Neighbor, husband of Good Sense—Harry J. Culliford.

All is under the direction of Harry J. Culliford who made such a marked success with the Easter Mystery Play. Recently, Helen F. Lyle, Dudley M. Arnold, and Harry J. Culliford did some exceptional character acting in the one act play presented under the auspices of the Men's Club for Troop 35 Boy Scouts.

All is under the program will be carol singing, the distribution of the Christmas treat, active games under the direction of a committee consisting of Donald F. H. Copson, Miss Marion H. Wallace, G. Harry Hoskins, and T. Gwyn Lewis.

Eight Of Legislative Committees Abolished

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—New rules adopted by the House of Representatives during the closing hours of the 1929 session will prevail when the lower branch of the legislature is called to order on January 6.

These rules call for the abolition of eight committees that had served in the last and previous sessions.

Under these new rules for governing the House there will be forty instead of forty-three committees as in the past. Several new committees were created in order to lessen the work of a few major committees.

The committees eliminated and the chairmen during the last session are: Accounts, Representative William F. Stadlander, Allegheny; Centennial Affairs, Representative Grover C. Talbot, Delaware; Bureau of Statistics, Representative James T. Heffran, Washington; Iron and Coal, Representative Joseph B. Henderson, Fayette; Labor and Industry, Representative William F. McCann, Allegheny; Library, Representative H. J. Smith, Lehigh; Public Buildings, Representative Edward B. Goehring, Allegheny; Retirement and Reform, Representative George H. Soffel, Allegheny.

All of these committee chairmen from the 1929 session will be back except one. That absentee will be Smith of Lehigh who was defeated for re-election.

The increase in certain legislation made it necessary to divide the work of several important groups. In past sessions all banking and building and loan legislation was handled by one committee. The new rules separate this work.

More careful consideration of bills should result from the revised House rules. The major committees will have an opportunity of studying all measures thoroughly before reporting them to the House for action.

The committee of counties and townships has been separated with committees created to consider legislation governing each of these municipal subdivisions. While the committee on municipal corporations is to be continued there will be separate committees for city and borough legislation. It is felt there is sufficient work for all three committees.

New committees have been created for handling legislation concerning public utilities and State government. The committee on judiciary general will get some relief from this latter group.

Under the new rules the House will be divided into the following committees:

Aeronautics, agriculture, appropriations, banking, boroughs, building and loan associations, cities, Congressional appointment, constitutional amendments, corporations, counties, education, elections, Federal relations, fisheries, forestry, game geological survey, highways, insurance.

Judiciary apportionment, judicial general, judicial local, judiciary special, law and order, legislative apportionment, manufacturers, military affairs, mines, and mining, municipal corporations, pensions and gratuities, printing, public health and sanitation, public utilities, railroads and railways, repeal bills, rules, State government, townships, ways and means.

The Parent Problem

Parent Of Six Children Finds Problems' Solution In Doctor Myers' Advice

Family Benefited By Following Psychologist's Column, Contributed Idea Of Its Own, Pronounced Good

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

"Dear Mr. Myers: Your daily articles seem to have been written just for me. The mother of six children ranging in age from two to thirteen, I have many problems and so often I've been troubled to know just how to deal with a difficulty, only to find it answered for me in your column."

"The other evening was an exception, though, for I read your advice about the hours of study for home work. I have a practice that has proven a boon. No night work, all in bed at 7:30 and any studies are done bright and early the next morning. It's a sure cure for the night work bugbear. Another little plan we girls have in the washing of dishes. I do all the dishes except for the evening meal; they leave for school in a quiet, happy mood, and in the evening I am fairly free. Instead of the old fretful dish washing period, they actually sing, do mental arithmetic and seem to enjoy being together. The little boys beg to carry the trays of dishes to their places, and even baby carries dishes over to the sink and away again."

"I do hope you may continue your excellent articles for years to come. I told my sister, who has one child of six, and apparently more problems than myself to solve, to find consolation in your advice. She's a devoted reader now and has a better understanding, she claims."

Answer: I want to thank you for your encouraging letter and the description of your ingenious scheme that seems to work: which goes to

Unless you object, I am going to print your letter sometime in the future, in my column, without your signature.

Her reply: "Certainly you may publish my letter, and I do hope some little family may benefit by my idea, as I have by your column. Many times I have taken heart and felt renewed vigor after reading your article. Due to an overwhelming foreign element in our school we seemingly cannot have a P. T. A. I personally, see a great field before us, but it does mean one must be a good mixer."

"I have two schools, equally near, where my kiddies might attend, but I chose this one, as it is truly representative of what may be expected in later years. I have heard mothers state they cannot tolerate a foreigner near their child, and our principal tells me that feeling of superiority keeps us from having a P. T. A."

"Any number of little black-eyed Italians come to our home, and such respect and abundance of manners as they possess often put my own to shame. My husband and I have many staunch friends of all nationalities and one amazing thing I find true of them all, is their love for good music."

MILLBURN

AUTO ACCIDENT.

What narrowly escaped being a fatal accident for five people occurred on Christmas on the Perry highway in front of the residence of J. P. Hartt when a car owned by Paul Bodner of No. 2 Mine and driven by George Zaviak of the same place crashed into the car of Rev. G. K. Monroe of West Alexander, Pa. Rev. Monroe and his wife were on their way to Butler after spending the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Monroe's sister, Mrs. Stephen Lukacs. They had stopped to let Mr. Hartt out at his home and were on the berm at the right of the road. Zaviak was driving at high speed and in turning out shot to the left side of the road. In attempting to get back on the pavement he again crossed the road and hit the Monroe car which was driven into the field by the impact, his own car swerving into an oak tree. Zaviak sustained a broken knee, the others escaping with shock and some bruises. Bodner's car was badly smashed and the Monroe car, while it could be driven, wrenched and battered.

MILLBURN NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Orr of Rouseville, and the Misses Josephine and Olive Griffin of Mercer, were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Orr.

Miss Ruth Patterson of Temple University, Philadelphia, and Miss Alice Patterson of Fort Wayne, Ind., are spending their Christmas vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Patterson.

The Pennsylvania Light and Power Co. are stringing their wires along the Perry highway. Many of the residences just south of Mercer are connected and enjoying the electricity. They expect the work to be completed by the first of the year.

Guard Gets High Rating Following Inspection Here

Commander Of Regiment Recommends Continuation Of Present Methods For "F"

A rating of "A plus" was accorded Troop F of New Castle for the first quarterly military inspection held here November 14, according to a report of the inspection received by the commander, Captain Blintrie, from the Philadelphia headquarters of the 103rd Cavalry.

The report and rating were signed by Major Samuel B. Wolfe, commander of the Second Squadron, 103rd Cavalry, who conducted the inspection here with Captain James B. Shelton, U. S. Cavalry instructor for the regiment.

In his official report of the Troop F inspection, the major states: "This troop continues to progress. There seems to be no need to worry about the future of this unit. Capt. Shelton and I attended a troop banquet at which the mayor, councilmen, county commissioner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and heads of industries attended."

In his recommendation for the troop the major urges "a continuation of the present methods."

MANY SEEK PAROLES

More requests for paroles and petitions to be allowed to go home for a few days are laid on the desk of Judge J. A. McLaughry at this time of the year than any other.

Where paroles are issued conditional on paying costs and fines greater effort is put forth at this time of the year to be released for Christmas than at any other one court officials say.

The hard times have made it tough on the bootleggers who are being ground between mill stores of reduced prices on liquor and substantial fines of the court.

MERCER NEWS

County lodges and clubs vied with each other in making Christmas for the 30 orphan kiddies at the asylum here an epochal event.

The Elks of Sharon played Santa Claus to the homeless group today.

The Good Samaritan Club of this city had already provided a tree on which hung many gifts. Each child was equipped with gymnasium shoes for the public school work.

The Santa that distributed gifts to the children at the home of the Sharon Limestone Company paid the home a visit during the day. There are 20 girls and 10 boys registered at the institution.

Agent Harry Higbee of the bureau of animal husbandry reports the shooting of 15 dogs at Farrell responsible for the killing of 86 sheep and maiming 26 others.

The animals were property of Joe Dzapo and Marko Disdair of Farrell.

The claim cost $720 to settle and is the largest in this county or Crawford for the year.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Many Packages And Cards Handled At Ward Post Office

More Cards Than Ever This Year; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

There were far more Christmas cards handled at the Mahoningtown station post office this year than ever before, according to E. M. McBride, superintendent at the station. Packages were about the same, there seemed to be no great increase or decrease. During the week a great quantity of Christmas mail went through the branch Post Office both out-going and in-coming.

A large number of seventh ward people were still receiving parcels through the mail Friday afternoon. Friday afternoon at least two hundred packages were delivered. These packages had come into the local office on the day before Christmas and Christmas Day.

The three days before Christmas a mail truck with three men on it, worked each afternoon delivering the incoming parcels to people in the seventh ward.

Today will see the finish of the Christmas rush at the Mahoningtown Post Office. Two extra helpers have been working at the station all week, and after today the Christmas mail will all be cleaned up and the station will be back to normal.

Also you would be surprised at the number of residents of the West Side and East Side that came to the Mahoningtown station to mail their cards and packages, says E. M. McBride. Rather than wait to be served at the city Post Office they came to the seventh ward station where the volume of mail handled is not so great.

Robbery Suspect Held By Police At Wellsville

(International News Service)

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 27.—Police at Wellsville, O., today were holding "Buster" Howarth, wanted in Rochester for the alleged robbery of a Wholesale Grocery House 18 months ago, county detective C. J. O'Loughlin has been notified.

Howarth was arrested by Ohio authorities for his alleged participation in the holdup of the East Steubenville O. passenger station of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

Ohio officials said the youth would probably be arranged there before his removal to Pennsylvania.

According to Beaver county detectives Howarth was implicated in the grocery theft by William Myers, of Steubenville, who is now serving a penitentiary term for his part in the robbery.

The grocery house safe was removed by the bandits, according to detectives, and looted of $400 cash after the combination had been blown off.

Robbers Work Hard For Total Of $400

(International News Service)

BRUSH, Colo., Dec. 27.—Energetic thieves broke into the office of the superintendent of the Brush high school. They lifted a 300-pound safe, carried it several miles out into the country, set upon it with punches and drills.

Finally they got it open. The net returns received by the gang, which must have contained at least three or four persons, was exactly four dollars.

State Ruling Asked On Voting Machines

Secretary Of Commonwealth Wants His Powers On Buying For Counties Refined

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—Secretary of the Commonwealth James A. Walker announced he plans to ask the Attorney General for a ruling outlining the powers of the Secretary of the Commonwealth in the purchase of voting machines.

Earlier in the month Secretary Walker sent letters to commissioners of several counties telling them that if they did not purchase machines by January 4, he will buy them and charge the bill to the counties.

The fourteen month period expires on January 4. This is the time allowed in the voting machine act for county commissioners to buy machines in districts where they were authorized by the electorate. The voting machine law provides that in counties where the commissioners failed to act the Secretary of Commonwealth is authorized to make the purchase.

Walker says he desires the Attorney General's ruling with particular reference to Cambria county. In that county the commissioners said they have considered the question of buying machines but deferred the matter because of financial conditions. The people in voting for the machines there defeated a bond issue measure to finance the purchase.

Commissioners Make Reports

Commissioners from other counties have replied to Walker's reply of early this month as follows: Lehigh county, bids opened December 4 for eighty-five machines for Allentown and Bethlehem. These bids were rejected and new ones are scheduled for opening next Monday.

Schuylkill county, contract for machines awarded September 17, but the company has asked an extension of the time for filling order.

Northampton county, commissioners will receive bids January 23 or 24 for machines.

Luzerne county, machines have been installed in a number of districts and will be installed in the remainder for the 1931 primary.

Fayette county, voting machines were used in twenty-two districts at the November election and others will be purchased gradually.

No reply has been received from the Centre county commissioners concerning the installation of machines for Phillipsburg borough.

Commissioners of Northumberland county have requested information on providing machines for the city of Sunbury and the boroughs of Mt. Carmel, Northumberland and Shamokin. The voters in these municipalities approved the installation of machines last year. An award for machines was made last August but no deliveries were made.

Farm Jobs Found By County Bureau

Unemployed Get Temporary Work, Director Hogue Says; More Coal Dug

The county poor department with the cooperation of different farmers has succeeded in placing several able-bodied men as farm hands "this week, Director M. B. Hogue announced this morning. The farm idea has become more popular during the past few days.

"It would be fine if other farmers might need helpers," Mr. Hogue continued. "We can provide willing men who are efficient, if the farmers will call us at Bell 5185. We've been able to place a few."

Operations at the county's strip coal mine to the east of the city, where hundreds of men have excavated ton after ton of fuel during the past month or so, slackened over Christmas. Men had resumed work there today, but the number was smaller.

The director estimated about 250 tons have been removed and delivered this week.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Last week of December is expected to be a warm, open period over the continent in general and a welcome relief from wintry conditions expected to precede and follow. As storm wave of moderate force crosses continent during week centering on 28, a general rise in temperatures and a moderate decrease in precipitation will be expected. During last week of December and first days of January, warm waves will be such as to cause considerable winter grains to be uncovered, causing above average winter killing as severe cold waves of January arrive.

Crop Weather Features Expected During January

January will average about normal temperatures, considerably above normal storm force and a little above normal precipitation for the month for the continent. Greatest increase in precipitation will occur on Pacific slope; least precipitation will be expected on Atlantic coast and on western plateau; precipitation over balance of continent will average about normal. Winter grains will not be expected to do well during this month on Atlantic coast nor in western third of sections one, three and five, as shortage of subsoil moisture in these areas during winter months and early spring and severe cold waves alternating with warm, open periods during winter months will probably cause greater than usual winter killing. Some increase in precipitation will be expected during January and February on north Atlantic coast and in central and western cotton belt, but such increase will be only temporary. Heaviest precipitation of month will be expected to occur in Gulf coast states. From 6 to 14 is expected to be one of the most severe storm periods of winter in the northern hemisphere; in North America, storms of this period will center in severe storms centering on 7 and moderate storms centering on 13 and probably dangerous local storms and severe cold waves over entire Great Central valley. Planetary positions during this period will be so unusual as to make accurate forecasting of conditions very difficult; such combinations of positions will not occur again in many years nor have they occurred in many years past. Under such conditions, our weather records are not of sufficient length to give enough cycles to be satisfactory.

Body Is Found With Head Shot Off

GALLIPOLIS, O., Dec. 27.—The body of Frank J. Sisson, 48, Gallia county farmer who disappeared seven weeks ago, was found today in an abandoned coal mine near his home with the top of his head shot off. He had threatened suicide, authorities said. His wife and five children survive.

Steel Plant Foreman Shoots Himself

WARREN, O., Dec. 27.—Funeral services will be held Monday for George Kemp, who shot and killed himself in his home here today. No motive has been found for the act. He was born in Scotland and came here 20 years ago. He was a foreman for the Brainard Steel.

Rejected Suitor Ends His Own Life

WINDBER, Pa., Dec. 27.—Leas Bober 20, is dead today, the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound through the brain. It is said that he was refused in a proposal of marriage. The shot was fired in the presence of his fiancée and her parents.

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

(By Central Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—In a recent issue of a magazine the "feature" story was a reprint of the famous O. Henry yarn, "Gifts of the Magi."

The story carries an unsigned introduction explaining that in 1902, "fate in the person of Nelson Hersh picked up a railroad magazine from a train seat and thumbing idly through its pages read a story signed by one O. Henry. Amazed and delighted by its sparkle and charm, he rushed back to the office to announce his discovery. Tom Orr, then an office boy, and Billy Williams, a cub reporter, were assigned to go out after O. Henry and stay out till they brought back the unknown writer. They canvassed every magazine office, but three months went by without so much as a clue to the mysterious author."

THEIR QUEST ENDS

The introduction continues: "Stated for firing, the unlucky cubs were seeking solace in beer at an Irving Place saloon, and told their troubles to the bartender. 'Stick around till midnight,' urged that worthy. 'I know just the guy you want—with a slouch hat like a writer and never speaks to a soul.' The boys stood by. At the stroke of 12 a tall, heavy-set man sidled up to the bar. O. Henry? queried the sleuths. 'That's the name I write under,' the man answered mildly. The boys told him their editor wanted a story every Sunday. O. Henry agreed but refused to come downtown to see the editor. All arrangements were made through Tom Orr as intermediary."

LUCRATIVE OFFER

There's more to it in the same vein. And, keeping all that in mind, the reader's attention is directed to a story called: "I Go In Search of O. Henry and Find His Hiding Place," included in a volume entitled "Over My Left Shoulder," written by The One and Only Bob Davis. Harkens to Robert:

"In 1903 my assignment: 'Go out and locate O. Henry. He has a breezy, brilliant and snappy style. I want him to write introductions to our Sunday stories.' Offer $40 a week. If that fails to do the trick, jump to $50. The limit is $60.

ACCEPTED GLADLY

After some research he learned that the author was living over a restaurant in West Twenty-fourth St., and there, in a very small room, opening on the usual air-shaft, he came upon him. O. Henry in shirt sleeves, with suspenders down, was seated beside a wash stand upon which reposed a huge bowl, containing perhaps five pounds of cracked ice, in which nestled a half dozen fine Bartlett pears.

After establishing his identity Davis told O. Henry his editor wanted him to write introductions varying from three hundred to seven hundred words in length for special features appearing in the Sunday issue for $60 a week.

"I accept your proposition," quote O. Henry. "Moreover, Mister, you can have the balance of the pears."

UNDER THE AXE

And thus, according to "Bob" Davis, O. Henry went to Park Row. The editor subsequently retired from the editorship of the newspaper and was succeeded by the late Colonel Caleb Van Hamm. According to Davis, on his accession Van Hamm inquired: "Who is this man Porter?" Davis explained that Sydney Porter, writing under the name of O. Henry, was one of Noble's selections and that his rate was $60 a week for such introductions as were required for Sunday features.

And then, says Davis, Van Hamm uttered the brilliant, laconic sentence, "Can him."

HIS OPPORTUNITY

As gently as possible the information was conveyed to O. Henry that his introductions were unsatisfactory to the editor. He seemed very much pleased, according to Davis, and later made a connection with an afternoon newspaper in the columns of which appeared some of the best short fiction.

The late "Bill" Johnson told me that O. Henry, seeking release from his contract with the newspaper, was permitted to cancel the agreement, the proviso being that he supply them with a Christmas yarn. And, according to Johnson, the story O. Henry submitted was "Gifts of the Magi."

Three New Holdups In Pittsburgh Net Bandits Big Sums

More Than $15,000 In Loot Obtained By Bandits In Three Daring Robberies

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—Despite strikingly successful efforts by western Pennsylvania police in rounding up bandit gangs preying on financial institutions, authorities today were confronted with three new daring hold-ups, believed engineered by separate gangs, which netted the participants more than $15,000 in loot.

Three armed bandits walked into a night meeting of the Hibernian Building & Loan Association last night, and while one of the men covered officials and patrons the other two systematically went through the cash drawers and safe. The three escaped with more than $13,000.

Two bandits held up a pawnshop earlier in the day and made a successful getaway with $10,000 worth of diamonds and $750 in cash. A grocery in East Carnegie was raided by two bandits, who scooped up $1,250 in cash and escaped.

Eighty Rebels In India Are Killed

British Troops Stage Wholesale Killing Of Rebel Forces In Rice Fields

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 27.—Eighty rebels were killed in a fierce battle with British troops in the rice fields of the Tharavady district of Upper Burma, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rangoon today.

Aimed with guns, spears and Burmese swords, about 500 natives from several villages in that region have banded together and waged a campaign of murder and pillage against the government in protest to tax assessments. They have paralyzed all ordinary activities in the district.

Several companies of soldiers from nearby military posts have been rushed into the hills to cope with the rebellion. A number of clashes and increasing casualties have been reported.

Swindling Ring Hunted By Police

Find Swindling Ring With Forged Stock Certificates Worth $89,000

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—With the discovery of $89,000 worth of forged certificates, representing 2,900 shares of Fox Film Company stock, police today were hunting members of a swindling ring believed to be operating on a nationwide scale.

Stock in two other large corporations has been forged, investigators learned, but the extent of the fraud and the losses to buyers of securities cannot be determined until a nationwide check-up on all stocks has been completed.

Officials of the Chicago stock exchange and brokerage houses in Chicago, New York and other large cities are co-operating in the investigation.

Special Holiday Program At Home

County Home Residents Are Remembered On Christmas Day

Guests of the County Home, numbering 108 in all, had a really happy Christmas, due to the fact that many people of the city and county remembered them with gifts of candy, fruit, smoking tobacco and other things which added materially to their joy.

Mrs. Perry Snyder, the matron of the home, with her assistants, also very materially aided in making the guests of the place have a very enjoyable Christmas, by preparing a special Christmas dinner.

During the Christmas season, the guests had the pleasure of witnessing two entertainments put on by members of classes of different churches.

Mrs. Snyder takes this opportunity of thanking those persons responsible for the treats furnished the guests of the home. The gifts which brought so much joy to these guests and their gifts follow: Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Shipley, two bushels of apples; Women's Club, Candy; Clutton store, candy; Loyal Wilson, two crates of oranges; C. W. McBerry, ten pounds of smoking tobacco; Current Events Club of 23, handkerchiefs for the women guests; classes of different churches, two entertainments.

Resumption Of Sheet And Tin Mills To Fill Automobile Orders, Announced

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Resumption of activities in sheet and tin mills in the Youngstown district to fill automobile orders amassed for 1931 delivery will give employment to several thousand employees immediately after January 1, it was indicated here today.

The Sharon Steel Hoop Company has announced it will set its nine sheet mills in Youngstown in operation next week together with three strip mills and four open hearth furnaces at Sharon and Lovellville.

Seventeen sheet mills of the Empire Steel Company of Mansfield, O. idle for the past two weeks, are slated to begin turning within a week at the Niles, O., factory.

Immediately after New Year's day, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company has announced, it will begin melting operations from one of the furnaces at the Campbell blast plant which has been banked for a long period of time.

Officials of the Republic Steel Corporation announced they would shortly broaden operations and increase the present output at the Warren and Niles sheet mills.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

42. George Rogers Clark—A Dramatic Incident

CONVINCED THAT HAMILTON WAS MERELY STALLING FOR TIME IN THE HOPE THAT HIS INDIAN ALLIES WOULD COME TO HIS RESCUE, COLONEL CLARK ON THE AFTERNOON OF FEBRUARY 24, 1779 SENT HIS ULTIMATUM TO THE BRITISH LEADER.

CLARK'S ULTIMATUM TO HAMILTON.

Colonel Clark Compliments to Mr. Hamilton and begs leave to inform him that Lt. Clark will not agree to any other terms than that of Mr. Hamilton's surrendering himself and Garrison, Prisoners at Discretion. If Mr. Hamilton is so Desirous of a Conference with Lt. Clark, he will meet him at the Church with Captain Helm.

Feb 24th 1779 J. Clark

* CAPT. HELM HAD BEEN IN CO. 11 AND OF FORT SACKVILLE WHEN IT WAS RECOVERED BY HAMILTON. HELM HAD SINCE BEEN HELD A PRISONER IN THE PORT.

WHILE HAMILTON WAS WAVERING, A DRAMATIC INCIDENT OCCURRED, A DOZEN OF HIS INDIANS, RETURNING FROM A RAID ON THE KENTUCKY FRONTIER AND BEARING GORY AMERICAN SCALPS FOR WHICH THEY EXPECTED TO RECEIVE BOUNTIES FROM THE BRITISH, FELL INTO THE HANDS OF CLARK'S MEN.

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

THE VENGEANCE OF THE "LONG KNIFE" WAS SWIFT AND TERRIBLE. THE MISCREANTS WERE SUMMARILY EXECUTED IN FULL VIEW OF THE FORT AND IN THE SAME MANNER IN WHICH THEY HAD DOUBTLESS MURDERED THEIR HELPLESS VICTIMS, - WITH THE TOMAHAWK!

WHEN TO BE NONCHALANT

"Don't forget, Spike, you're supposed to fight Mike for the champenship after this is over."

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS SOUTH HIGH PASSERS

Luther Rowe, Nick Uram Play Good Game; Wario
Features With 12 Points

BIG CROWD SEES
LOCALS TRIUMPH

Despite a bad showing in the first quarter, a fast New Castle high basketball team came back strong in the remaining three quarters and as a result defeated Youngstown South High on Friday night at Senior high gym before a big crowd of followers. The final score was 26-17.

The big "guns" for New Castle were Luther Rowe, Nick Uram, and Francis Wario. These boys were in the thick of the fight throughout, especially Uram and Rowe who secured two field goals apiece to top off their good playing. Francis Wario again led his team mates in scoring, finding the hoops for four field goals and four fouls for a total of 12 points.

The New Castle defense again was clicking good last night. South secured but four goals throughout the game. Crawford was the outstanding star for the visitors, scoring two field goals and four fouls. McBride and Munde each scored one field goal.

New Castle made an impressive showing after that bad first quarter when South took a one point lead, 5-4. The local passers functioned like a Swiss clock in the remainder of the game. The first quarter saw both teams playing a close guarding game as the whistle ended the first quarter, 5-4 with the visitors on top.

Francis Wario made two pretty one hand shots from the side, for New Castle's four points in the initial quarter.

The second quarter of play was fast. New Castle scored 10 points to 5 for South. The half found the Coach Bredenbaugh cohorts on top by a 14-10 count. Wario accounted for three fouls. Rowe 1 sank a pretty one under the basket after dribbling from one end of the floor to the other, for New Castle's 10 markers in the second quarter of play.

South made a daring attempt to gain on their opponents in the third quarter, still employing that "man to man" defense which proved good in the opening quarter but failed. In this quarter Nick Uram sank his second goal of the game from the side, Wario made another spectacular one hand shot from the side, and Lasky accounted for one foul. The third quarter saw New Castle on top by a 19-14 count.

As the final quarter got underway it was easily evident that South could do nothing with the puzzling attack of the local passers. The Senior high boys tallied seven more points to bring their total up to 26 for the night in the final chapter. In this quarter, Rowe sank two fouls and a field goal and Wario made one field goal and a foul. The whistle blew with New Castle on top 26-17. The victory was the third of the season for New Castle and the second straight over Youngstown South. New Castle's next opponents will be Westinghouse High of Pittsburgh on next Tuesday night at Senior high gym.

For New Castle the playing of Wario, Rowe, and N. Uram featured while Crawford and McBride were the best for the losers.

The summary of the contest follows:

New Castle 26 Youngstown South 17
Wario F Sweeney
Rowe F Crawford
Lasky C Munde
McAuley G McBride
Uram G Ryan

New Castle by quarters:
1st 5 10 5 7-26
South 5 5 4 3-17
Substitutions—New Castle, Shaffer for Lasky; J. Uram for N. Uram; Youngstown South, Minehart for Sweeney, Humphries for McBride; Ryan for Munde; Berkland for Ryan.

Field goals—Wario 4, Rowe 2, N. Uram 2, Lasky 1, Crawford 2, Munde 1, McBride 1.
Fouls—New Castle, 8 out of 15; South, 9 out of 15.
Referee—Lobach, F. and M.
Time of quarters, eight minutes.

THE PENALTY OF CHRISTMAS

THE WORST PART OF CHRISTMAS PRESENTS IS THAT YOU HAVE TO USE THEM.

St. Mary's Team Plays Duquesne Monday Evening

Famous Dukes Of Pittsburgh Will Help Dedicate New Athletic Court

SAINTS LINEUP IS STRONG ONE

"Chick" Davies and his husky bunch of Duquesne University floor stars will oppose the newly created St. Mary's Athletic Association basketball team, at the St. Mary's Club House floor on North Beaver street, Monday night. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

The Saints as they are called, will present a strong lineup composed of floor stars very familiar to New Castle fans. Russ Johnson and Johnny Hill will hold down the forward jobs. Either Bruce Alexander or Suber will be at the jump-off position, and Francis Uhl and Steve Volesko will take care of the guard posts.

Coach Peck Lee has been engaged in working out various combinations and has hit upon the above starting lineup. Peck Lee and Chick Davies used to be team-mates, but Monday night will find them opposed to each other, in coaching roles for the first time. Lee is the former Ellwood City High coach, and at present county detective. He has had a lot of basketball experience and is capable of turning out a good team.

The St. Mary's club house is going to surprise a lot of people, with its brightness. A new set of bleachers has been installed and also a fine hardwood playing court. Joseph Graham is president of the Association and together with "Jockey" Travers has put in a lot of time with the details of the new basketball court.

Duquesne will bring their regular varsity lineup with the famous Gangly Benedict as the feature. Others on the Duke team this year are Abele, Parry, Brud Stephens and Irwin.

The Saints hope to make a creditable showing against the older and more experienced college players.

A social hour will be indulged in following the game, with the Dukes as honored guests.

Wolgast-Genaro In Slow Battle

Flyweights Fail To Settle Supremacy In Slow Bout—Decision Is Draw

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Panchito Villa's flyweight title did not come home to roost today after all. There is no 112-pound champion to fill his golden shoes, since Midge Wolgast and Frankie Genaro boxed fifteen rounds to a draw in Madison Square Garden last night.

Tommy Sheridan, a judge, voted for Wolgast in favor of Genaro, and Patsy Haley, the referee, unable to split them out, called it a draw. It was anything but a great battle. Both were so fearful of making a single blunder that they settled down to an exasperatingly cautious duel of occasional punching. Two thirds of the supposed fighting time was burned up in pop-eyed contemplation of each other.

Shenango To Play Aspinwall Tonight

Shenango Alumni Plays Phalanx In Preliminary; Games Start At 8 O'clock

Shenango high school basketball team meets a tough opponents tonight on the Shenango high floor when Coach "Pop" Johnson's boys line up against Aspinwall High. In the preliminary contest the Shenango Alumni meets the Phalanx. The first game starts at 8:00 o'clock. A big crowd is expected to watch both contests which are expected to be close and exciting.

Union High Tops Evans City 25-17

For Second Time This Year Union High Defeats Evans City High Quintet

Union High school basketball team gained a 25 to 17 decision over Evans City High, in a game played at the Evans City floor. It was the second victory of the year for the Unionites over the Butler County quintet, the locals having turned the trick at Union a few weeks ago.

Don Lannigan was again the big scoring ace of the Union team, with five field goals, and in addition played a whole of a floor game. Jaworski tallied three baskets to aid Union in the victory. Campbell, Sniezek and Jaworski did some nice guarding. Evans City was held to seven baskets.

Union took the lead in the very beginning of the game and held it throughout the four periods. The score at the end of the half was 14 to 7 in favor of Union.

The summary: Union High 25—Evans City 17. Zaremba Gilbach, Lannigan F. Wahl, Augustyn G. Denbar, Jaworski C. Lutz, Campbell G. Myers, Subs. Sniezek for Campbell, Lutz for Gilbach, Kennedy for Lutz.

Field Goals—Zaremba, Lannigan 5, Augustyn, Jaworski 3; Wahl 2; Denbar 2; Myers 3. Fouls—Union 5 out of 10. Evans City, 3 out of 5. Umpire, Shaky, Timers, Kennedy and Amos. Scorers, Eve and Groves. Time of quarters 8 minutes.

Highland And Croton To Clash Tonight

Besemer Boosters And Wesley M. E. Clash In Second Game At Y

Highland United Presbyterians and Croton Methodists will meet tonight in the Church Basketball circuit to play off a postponed fracas and the Wesley M. E. will take on the Besemer Boosters in the final contest of the night. The second clash is not a league tilt. The games will be staged at the Y.

The Highland-Croton tilt should be fast as Croton has been coming along at a fast clip and recently beat the Central Christians by a margin of four points. The other game should be good as the Besemerites have been winning consistently.

The first game will start at 7:30 p. m.

FIGHT RESULTS

(International News Service) AT NEW YORK—Frankie Genaro, New York, and Midge Wolgast, Philadelphia, fighting for world's flyweight title, drew (15).

Kid Francis, Italian featherweight, defeated Jimmy Slavin, New York (8).

Low Feldman, New York featherweight, defeated Vidal Gregorio, New York (6).

Billy Passamento, Philadelphia flyweight, defeated Mickey Donato, New York (5).

AT AKRON, O.—Gorilla Jones, Akron middleweight, knocked out Claude Chastain, Chicago (4).

AT PITTSBURGH—Tommy Crawley (Pittsburgh) outpointed Andy Andrucci (Pittsburgh) lightweights (10).

Al Becker (Sheraden) defeated Billy Flannigan (Clearfield), middleweights (5) technical knockout.

Marcus Noll (Pittsburgh) defeated Frankie Frey (New Castle) middleweights (3) technical knockout.

On Monday night at 8:00 o'clock on the Savio floor, the Marcella basketball team will play the Mahoningtown Monarchs, it was announced today. A fast game is anticipated.

Big Inter-City Dual Meet Continues At "Y" All Day; Butler Sends 45 Young Men

Practically every activity of the New Castle Y. M. C. A. will be represented by competent players today when a group of about 45 young men of the Butler Y. M. C. A. plays locals in the annual inter-city dual meet of departmental activities.

The Butler men will be supervised by their physical director, Bert Boehler, who is expected to accompany the delegation to this city.

The local physical and boys' work departments directed by Henry T. MacNichols and W. A. Thomas, respectively, will be represented by competitors for honors at the meet in the local association building. Winners of the various matches will be judged on the point system. Checkers, chess, billiards and ping

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Marcus Noll, Pittsburgh scored a technical knockout over Frankie Frey, New Castle, in the third round of a bout listed for six rounds at Pittsburgh, last night. Frey was down four times. In other bouts Al Becker stopped Bill Flanagan by a technical knockout in the fifth because of cut. Joe Spiel beat Tommy Ward in six chapters, and in the main bout of 10 rounds Tommy Crawley outboxed Andrucci.

The flyweight bout for the world's championship between Midge Wolgast and Frankie Genaro turned out to be a draw after 15 rounds of fighting in New York City. Only 6,500 fans witnessed the encounter, which was called an unsatisfactory exhibition. The judges split on the award and the referee's vote carried. Wolgast is recognized as champion in New York and Pennsylvania and Genaro is called champion by the National Boxing association.

Earl Abel, head coach at the University of Virginia has resigned.

Fighters are "too choosy" according to Jack Dempsey. Those who should meet one another won't, according to the former's world champion and no truer words were spoken.

Two new fielding records were made in the National league in 1930. Chuck Klein of the Phillies was won renown as a hitter turned in 44 assists and participated in 1,318 double plays.

South Hill A. A. Members To Meet

South Hill A. A. will hold a meeting December 23 at Marino's store, according to J. Augustine, manager. Those to attend are: T. J. Augustine, Felix Adams, J. Fruit, Zhegan, J. Millon, Templo, Carmuche, Stone, Summerville, Fleeger, R. Domenick, Mollic, P. Augustine, Champ and Yoho.

Titans Court Men To Report Monday Morning For Workouts

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 27.—Eleven members of the Westminster College basketball squad will report to Coach "Pops" Harrison on Monday morning to start preparation for the court season. Two and three drills each day will be the order for the Titan courtmen for a few days, and two practice games will be played during the week. All this activity is but preparation for the important Grove City game at Grove City, January 6.

The Titans will play Kent State Teachers College at Kent, O., on Wednesday night, and will engage the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College at Youngstown on Friday night. Both these teams will supply plenty of opposition for the Westminster crew.

The 11 men who will report to Coach Harrison Monday are: Captain Phil Rice, Duquesne, guard; Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven, center; Marshall Fisher, Boardman, forward; Michael Kocharan, Duquesne, forward; John Hamas, East Rutherford, N. J., forward; Ted Blazer, Sharon, guard; William Williams, Sharon center; Charles Arthur McKeeport, center; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, forward; William Douglas, Indiana, forward and Genoa Newton, New Wilmington, forward.

Just before Christmas recess started, Coach Harrison was far from satisfied with the play of the Titans. The team-work was ragged and the ball handling was very poor. As a result, the new mentor decided to have the boys curtail their holiday period at home and report one week before the student body returns.

Keeping It Hot Stove League Gossip

One of these years baseball fans will awaken to read the news that Babe Ruth and Herb Pennock will no longer play for the Yankees.

It's going to be a shock when the news does come, whether it happens in three, four or five years because to the baseball public Ruth and Pennock are as strongly identified with the name Yankees as Connie Mack is with the Athletics.

Court Of Honor Awards Are Made

Scouts Of Ellwood City Are Given Recognition
On Friday

LARGE ATTENDANCE FEATURES EVENT

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 27.—One of the best attended Scouts' Court of Honor in many years was held here, Friday, December 26 at 7:30 in the Methodist church. All of the troops were well represented in the distribution of the badges.

The court was in charge of the scout executive, who are John Lindgren, chairman of the court of honor; Jack Pearson, deputy commissioner; E. E. Donner, deputy commissioner; Frank L. Herbert, scout executive; and Earle Herbert, district commissioner.

The court was opened by Mr. Lindgren who had the assemblage sing "America." He then introduced Mr. Horton, who explained that the scout badges were protected by the national constitution and that it is an honor to wear one. None other than a scout is authorized to obtain the badges. The scout must himself appear at the court of honor to receive his badge. A definite record is maintained for the reason of awards for each scout.

Scouts merited badges in obtaining an efficiency in the following: Woodcraft, personal health, public health, pioneering, cooking, first aid, swimming, music, basketry, firemanship, scholarship, art, carpentry, pathfinding, handy craft, safety first and scout craft.

Those who became first class scouts are Bob Sprague, Bob Stevenson, Lin Davis, Ralph Ferucci, and James McElwain. The second class scouts are Richard Long, David Bolotin, John Luca, Ed Cable, Frank Paswell, Alvin Koach, Lyle Koach, Bill McNeal, Joe Pekra, Charles White and Bob Bohman.

A certificate from the national council was presented to Earle Herbert by Mr. Lindgren acknowledging the former as a district commissioner.

It was announced that scout work in Ellwood City is rapidly progressing. The Shelby rooming house on First street and Fountain avenue is the new quarters to be used by the five local troops.

A bird feeding station contest will keep the boys busy for a few days as they are all anxious to win the five-dollar reward for their troop.

Heavy Selling Orders Feature Market Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Selling orders for the industrial and utility favorites flooded the market in the short session today and prices in all sections of the list were forced lower. General Electric, Westinghouse, International Telephone and other active shares dipped to the lowest level of the year, and new losses of 2 to 4 points were recorded for the high-priced specialties.

Prevalence of year-end tax selling was evidenced by the frequency with which odd blocks of stock appeared on the tape.

The week-end business reviews showed a satisfactory turnover of holiday goods. Though at prices which cut heavily into store profits.

A sharp upward revision in Interior Steel Mills operations after the turn of the year was promised in the Youngstown dispatches, which predicted a 15 per cent increase to 50 per cent of capacity after next week. The $88,000,000 decrease in brokers loans, the thirteenth successive weekly decline, was taken as a matter of course, but the beneficial effects of these reductions will be seen later on.

General Electric broke under 42 for the first time since the split-up of the stock and Westinghouse sold under 89, also a new low for the year. Bethlehem Steel, Anaconda and other of the so-called pivotal stocks dipped lowest at the opening, rallying feebly as the session advanced.

The New York City Traction took the palm as the best ground gainer of the irregular session. It jumped 6 points and BMT 3 points on announcement of an early report on the whole transit situation in the big city.

Corn and Wheat were again on the toboggan in the Chicago and other important grain markets. Wheat for the July option selling under 62 for the first time since 1899 and Corn at the lowest price in seven years.

Weakness in the commodity markets is a bigger handicap to business recovery than decreasing industrial production, which now appears on the road to improvement.

Another selling wave gripped the market half-way through the second hour, wiping out most of the recovery of the previous period and forcing the whole list downward.

Good support was extended in this reaction to the utility stocks and to such favorites as General Motors, Big Steel, Sears Roebuck and Vanadium, Union Pacific Railroad jumped 3 1/2 points to 180 and the City Traction stocks commanded the best prices of the week.

Helen Madison, The Year's Outstanding Amateur Athlete

By Central Press

Erasing such names as Martha Norelius, Gertrude Ederle, Ethel Lackie and Josephine McKim from the record books, and placing her own there instead, Helen Madison, girl aquatic star from Seattle, became one of the outstanding amateur stars of 1930. For years records had stood with little changes, but in the short space of a week Helen set new marks in distances from the 100 yards up to and including the mile. In all she set 25 national and 12 world swimming records. Never before has such a feat been accomplished by either man or woman. Seventeen years old, a high school girl with a winning smile, Helen is now hailed as the greatest woman swimmer of all time.

of her mother, still remains undisposed and a part of the Crabtree estate.

Major General Clarence R. Edwards, executor of the estate, said the name of Lotta Crabtree on the window, can easily be removed, and is anxious to give the beautiful window to some church which would appreciate it.

The widow, which was designed by Miss Joan Tillinghast, of New York, depicts angels, and was refused by the New York church because the name of the actress was inscribed upon it.

The judges reasoned thus: The storage company broke its contract in placing the goods in a building other than its warehouse. It thus subjected that merchandise to a risk never contemplated by the owner and never assented to by him. In such a case, the rule is that the one who takes charge of the property assumes the risk of its destruction.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Prisoners at the county jail are eating buffalo meat regularly as a result of the recent overcrowding of the buffalo ranges owned by the city and county of Denver. The city recently killed 20 of the majestic animals belonging to the mountain parks herds.

The meat is being kept on ice and fed to the prisoners.

Constable And Former Police Captain Held

Charges Of Attempted Safe Robbery Are Made Against Them

POSTORIA, O., Dec. 27.—Edward Stejman, 38, a constable, and John Kovaschitz, 35, a former Postoria police captain, were held in county jail at Tiffin with Earl Adams, a factory worker, on charges of attempted safe robbery.

The three pleaded not guilty and bonds were set at $5,000. They were accused of attempting to loot the safe of the City Loan & Finance Co. here.

After the combination dial had been knocked from the safe Tuesday night the robbers fled when a watchman was attracted by the noise.

Police said Stejman, Kovaschitz and Adams were said to have been seen in front of the building shortly before the attempted robbery. Fingerprints found on a piece of paper in the office were submitted to an expert for comparison with prints taken from the suspects.

The men also were to be questioned in connection with the blowing of a safe of the Ohio Farmers Milk Co. here two weeks ago. In the milk company job the robbers escaped with $444.

Nitroglycerin was used to break that safe shortly after five gallons of the explosive was stolen from the Independent Eastern Torpedo Co., near Findlay.

Let's learn to live: for we must die alone—Crabbe.

Levine Plans To Explain Stock At Hearing On Monday

Noted Atlantic Flier Will Be Asked To Explain $22,000 In Stock

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Charles A. Levine, noted transatlantic aviator, will furnish a "satisfactory explanation" of the manner in which he obtained approximately $22,000 worth of corporation stock when he appears for questioning in the district attorney's office Monday, his attorney, told International News Service today.

"I am positive that Levine is guilty of no wrong doing," Tekulsky said. "He will explain the transaction to everyone's satisfaction." Tekulsky announced he had received a "request" subpoena from district attorney Crane, summoning Levine to appear for questioning in connection with the stock, identified as shares in the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Assistant District Attorney Charles J. Garrison issued the subpoena at the request of the Fidelity and Deposit Company, a Maryland surety firm, whose investigators alleged that the stock disappeared slightly more than a year ago, while being carried by a messenger.

The surety company asserted that Levine used the stock last May as security for a loan from the Manufacturers Trust Company, whose officials refused to divulge any information concerning the purported transaction.

No Weakness Seen In Market

Some Investment Buying Is Noted In Close Of Transactions Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Scattered selling of the leading industrial stocks and utilities at the week-end carried prices to slightly lower levels. The list as a whole sagged fractionally under the weight of tax selling, liquidation and the usual pounding of the bears, but investment buying was noted in many of the speculative favorites and there was no outstanding weakness in the market.

General Electric and Westinghouse broke to the year's lowest prices, the former under 42 and the latter around 88, but Westinghouse rallied to 89 at the close. U. S. Steel finished the week at 136 3/4, down 3 1/2 points for the day and about four points from last Saturday's close.

Stocks sales for the short session were under 1,400,000 shares. After an early dip to 173 3/4 American Tel and Tel rallied to 175 3/4 and closed at that level, with a net gain of 5-8. International Tel and Tel was down 1-8 at 18 1/4; Auburn Auto down 1-4 at 95 1-2; New York Central down 1-2 at 110 3-4; Consolidated Gas down 7-8 at 40 7-8; North American down 1-2 at 50 1-2.

The New York City traction stocks were the features of the short session, Brooklyn-Manhattan scoring a net advance of 4-8 at 61 7-8, and Interboro Rapid Transit up 4-5 at 27 5-8.

Honor Mellett At Memorial Luncheon

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Students at the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University recently held their annual Don R. Mellett foundation luncheon in memory of the crusading Canton, Ohio, editor whose vigorous campaign against gangsters and bootleggers four years ago resulted in his death at the hands of gunmen.

Professor Burges Johnson, a principal speaker at the luncheon, in his address said: "The newspaper, like the trolley car may be viewed from two angles. First it is a commercial enterprise and must pay its way. Second it is a public good necessary to the maintenance of a democratic government."

"The newspaper has come to be more essential to the well being of the community and the nation than almost any other public good. With out it the great experiment of America's democratic government might have broken down long ago."

Gives Away Money; Placed Under Arrest

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 27.—Fred Barnes, age and occupation undetermined, has been released from the prison cell where he was lodged as the result of a philanthropic enterprise unsurpassed within the memory of veteran local police.

Standing on a busy downtown corner, Barnes passed out $20 bills to all who would accept them. He got rid of more than $200 before police interrupted him and took him to headquarters for examination.

"I was just having a good time spreading Christmas cheer" Barnes said. "It isn't against the law to give away money, is it?"

One newsboy circled Barnes three times as he stood on the corner getting a $20 bill each time.

A number of persons turned over to the police the money they had received. It was returned to Barnes and he was released.

South Side Board Annual Banquet To Be Held January 6

Election Of Officers For 1931 Will Take Place At Banquet Of Merchants

Plans for the annual banquet of the South Side Board of Trade which will take place on Tuesday evening, January 6, at the Central Christian church on the corner of East Long avenue and Pennsylvania avenue, are complete according to D. O. Davies who is in charge of the banquet.

The banquet will start at 7:30 o'clock. Election of officers for 1931 will also take place, it was announced. Alec Samuels who is president of this organization at the present time stated today that plans for a membership drive for 1931 are being formulated.

Girl Injured As Auto Crashes Into Truck On Highway

Evans City Girl Seriously Injured, Man Companion Slightly Hurt, In Crash

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 27.—Suffering with a compound fracture of the leg, Helen Kelly, 20, of Evans City, today was in the Suburban General Hospital, Bellevue, following a crash into a parked truck on the Perry Highway, 1½ miles from here, last night. With her escort, C. A. Craig, 40, of Butler, the couple were driving along the highway when they crashed into a driverless truck owned by S. W. Myer, of Grove City. State highway patrolmen who investigated the case said that the truck was parked without lights. Craig, with lacerations about the face, was treated at the hospital and permitted to go home.

Open Dorm Bids; Contract Delayed

Let Grove City Building Job Within Few Days; Work Costs $250,000

While re-advertised bids for Grove City College's new $250,000 dormitory for boys were opened here today no announcement as to the successful contracting firm was forthcoming. Awarding of the contract will be delayed, it was said, until the college's building committee meets to give sanction. Bids submitted by 12 contractors some time ago were rejected when the college board voted to re-advertise for estimates. The proposed dormitory would be the third unit of Grove City's extensive building program, since a science hall and chapel building are now in the course of construction.

Fayette County Officers Plan Lottery Fight

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 27.—Fayette County authorities have set themselves down squarely against any attempt of local racketeers to revamp the Clearing House numbers lottery after December 31, when the New York Clearing House Association ban cuts off publication daily of the numerals.
District Attorney John B. Adams has instructed county officers to still the believed-to-be dying industry once and for ever.
As the first step officers raided an alleged lottery establishment in the office of George Betters, at Connellsville. Two negroes were arrested in connection with the raid there, officers reported.

Man Found Dead, Believed Victim Of Bad Moonshine

(International News Service)
CONNELLVILLE, Pa., Dec. 27.—Poisonous moonshine liquor today was assigned as the cause of the death of Sam Spishock, 45, of Indian Creek, found dead in bed by police at the home of John and Mary Hominsky.
Police were informed the man had come to the Hominsky home early in the morning, ate his breakfast and then retired.
The Hominsky couple were arrested by police on charges growing out of the alleged possession of a keg of illegal liquor.

Personal Property Returns Being Made

County assessors are expected to get their personal property tax returns in to the county commissioners' office by January 1. A four mill tax is required to be paid on mortgages, judgments, promissory notes, bonds, stocks and other interest bearing obligations. This tax is based on the returns made by the assessors.

It looks as though the bookstores will be obliged to retaliate by putting in lines of drugs and toilet accessories.

Sixty Heirs In Three States To Get $9,000,000

Fortune Founded By Joseph Keeley, Early Ship-builder

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 27.—One hundred and eighteen years ago Joseph Keeley, shipbuilder and owner, who came to this country from Ireland, laid the foundation for a fortune that is now said to exceed $9,000,000, and which 60 descendants in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Tennessee are expecting to obtain within a short time.
The story was told by Mrs. Mary Weimer Manspeaker of West Brownsville, one of the principal heirs, and a great granddaughter of the famous old ship owner.
Keeley started his shipbuilding business on his arrival in this country several years after the Revolutionary war and put three sailing vessels on the high seas. These with their cargoes were seized by the English during the war of 1812.
Later the U. S. government obtained their release and kept them in its own service. The value of the ships and their cargoes with accrued interest since that time makes up the estate which the descendants have traced during the last few years.
Samuel Reese of Hopewell, Pa., near Altoona, is administrator. Mrs. Manspeaker also declared that her great-grandfather at one time owned Hog Island at Philadelphia on which are located vast shipyards at present and that further sums are expected to be realized because of the faulty transfer of the property years ago.

School Directors To Hold Meeting

Twenty-Eighth Annual Convention To Convene In Second United Presbyterian Church

County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Sylling, is sending out letters to school directors notifying them that the twenty-eighth annual convention of school directors of Lawrence county will be held in the Second United Presbyterian church, corner of County Line and Milton streets on January 14 and 15.

Attention is called to section 803 of the school code which provides that directors shall be paid $4 per day and mileage at the rate of 4 cents per mile for the distance necessary to be traveled in going to and from the convention.
Among the instructors secured for the convention are Dr. W. E. Wenner, superintendent of the Ashtabula, O. schools; Assistant Superintendent Repleg of the Allegheny county schools and Dr. D. E. Crosey of the State Department of Public Instruction. Dr. Crosey is connected with the financial end of the department and will discuss school finances.
Luncheon for the directors will be served in the basement of the Second United Presbyterian church.

A Dying Sun

By S. S. MYERS
The star to which you refer is doubtless Jupiter the nearest of the major planets and sometimes called the giant of the solar system. It is, indeed, a giant as compared with the earth. Its diameter at the equator is 90,000 miles, while that of the earth is only 8,000 miles. All the planets of the solar system put together would not equal in bulk that of Jupiter.

It makes a complete rotation on its axis every 9 hours and 55 minutes. Hence a day on Jupiter is a little less than ten hours long while its year is as long as eleven of our years. Its mean distance from the sun is 483 million miles while that of the earth is only 93 million miles.
Jupiter is undoubtedly a very hot body and it is surrounded by a vast envelop of grayish white steam, vapor and clouds. Near the equator, on either side, is a broad belt which varies from fiery red to orange, salmon and pink. These are doubtless openings in the outer envelop which enables us to see into the hot surface. These rifts, or openings may be caused by a general drift of the cloudy envelop, the same as the cold air of the earth's atmosphere drifts in a general way over the surface toward the equator where it becomes heated and rises to a higher plane and drifts back toward the poles.
Here and there over the surface of Jupiter there occasionally may be seen red spots which may be accounted for as huge volcanoes belching fire up through the steam and clouds. It is generally conceded that Jupiter is a dying sun. With its five moons it, at one time, must have been a small planetary system in itself with Jupiter as the central sun and its moons receiving light and heat therefrom and revolving around it as it and the other planets revolve around the sun. There is evidence of systems within a system in other parts of the universe.
While there may be some sort of life on some of the moons of Jupiter, the smallest of which is about as large as our moon while the largest is about the size of Mars, it is evident that Jupiter is too hot to support any kind of vegetable or animal life.

WALMO

CHRISTMAS PARTY
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sonneborn were host and hostess to members of the Walmo Kensington and their families at a Christmas party at their home Friday evening. Guest numbering thirty-five enjoyed the evening with games and music.
The home was attractively decorated and a beautiful tree adorned the living room.
At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by the committee, who were Madams Stitchberry, Rice, Williams, and Burgess.

Ten Arrested By Dry Officers In Pittsburgh Raid

Police Investigate "Gangster" Methods Of Firing Upon Parked Automobiles

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—With ten men under arrest today, police were investigating "gangster" methods of firing a volley of bullets into parked automobiles. Following a sweeping raid last night by prohibition officers who were forced to enlist the aid of city police before captures could be made.
A few hours after prohibition officers seized an automobile containing four half-barrels of beer, a car occupied by several men passed the house building, headquarters of the agents, and fired six shots into the unoccupied car of S. E. Ross, an agent. The machine was parked in front of the building.
Venturing into in search of the men who did the shooting, the officers found themselves repulsed at the point of revolvers when they went to the address where the first arrest was made.

They returned to headquarters, secured additional agents and several policemen and returned to the spot, a confectionery story.
Breaking down the door, the raiders gained entrance and in the back room of the building, which they asserted was fitted up like a bar, took into custody 10 men who, they believed, were those who kept them at bay shortly before.

Young Boy Killed By His Brother

Farmhouse Near New Kensington Is Scene Of "Unloaded Gun" Killing

(International News Service)
NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 27.—Victim of another "unloaded gun," a 13-year-old boy, Paul Swartz, lay dead today while police were holding for investigation his brother, aged 15.
The shooting, which occurred late last night, had for its setting a farmhouse owned by Vincent Pavlik, three miles outside this city.
Picking up a gun which he did not know was loaded, the older brother told police, he pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the back of his younger brother's neck.
Nick Skurezyk, caretaker of the farm, with whom the boys had visited, was held by police as a material witness.

Dog Just Can't Escape From Ad In This Paper

Again, for the fourth time, a party in this city had the misfortune of losing her pet brown and black terrier dog, and each time, put an ad in the lost and found column of The News. Not once upon inserting the ad, had she arrived home from work, that she didn't get a call within two hours after the paper had left the press, telling where the dog had been found. On Thursday the pet had got lost, and Friday an ad was placed in the New Castle News. Between 4:30 and 5:00 o'clock that evening, a call came from a party on the west side stating that "Punch" was there.

JOB SEEKER'S FINE PAID
While hurrying on a bicycle to secure a job he had heard of, Harry Lyons, a shoe operative of Northampton, England, knocked down a woman, and was fined in court for reckless riding. Soon afterward the mayor of Northampton received a letter signed "Viator" reading: "I am so surprised and delighted not to say staggered in these dole-taking days at the idea of any modern boy being in a hurry to get employment instead of avoiding it, that I hasten to send you the money to pay the fine." Lyons now is at work.
